Notorious Gossip

The Governor of West Virginia, while travelling through Arizona, noticed the dry, dusty appearance of the country.

Governor: "Doesn't it ever rain here?"

Native: "Rain? Rain? Why, say, pardner, there's bullfrogs in this town over 10 years that have not learned to swim yet."

Small Girl (addressing new nurse at bath time): "Nannie, please don't rub me with the towel. Just blot me."

"I wish," she sighed, "that we lived in a house where everything was done by touching buttons."

"And I wish," said her husband, "that I lived in shirts that had buttons to touch."

Waitress: "And how did you find the apple pie?"

Diner: "I moved the bit of cheese aside—and there it was!"

"You're not going, Tam?" asked the young fisherman anxiously.

"Aye," replied Tam, aged 10. "I'm awa' hame. Ma worm's no tr'm."

"Does your wife talk behind you back?"

"No, we don't own a car."

Prisoner: "There goes my hat. Shall I run after it?"

Policeman: "And not come back! No. You stay here and I'll run after the hat."

Poet: "Darling, I love you more than words can tell."

She: "Good. I was afraid you were going to write another poem for me."

"Where is that beautiful canary bird of yours that used to sing so clearly and sweetly?" asked Mrs. Weatherbee.

"I had to sell him," Mrs. Butler said tearfully. "My son left the cage on the radio set and he learned static."

Pedestrian (to boy leading a skinny mongrel pup): "What kind of dog is that, my boy?"

Boy: "This is a police dog."

Pedestrian: "That doesn't look like a police dog."

Boy: "Nope; it's in the secret service."

London, Oct. 10.

Major-General B. N. Sergison-Brooke and the committee of the Royal Tournament report a profit of £18,500 as a result of the display held at Olympia in May. This sum, which has been handed over to the Permanent Under-Secretary for War, is £500 in excess of the profit made in 1934.

The money will be distributed to charities connected with the three Defence Services. The result is considered highly satisfactory in view of the many attractions of the Silver Jubilee celebrations in May. The 1936 Tournament will be held from May 7 to 23.

Get your stomach right; don't waste time

THE WORLD'S STOMACH REMEDY

Prescribed by doctors
for stomach sufferers

Irritability—Sleeplessness—General Weakness—Fatigue—Lack of Appetite and many troubles
of the Stomach and Intestines

HOW these strenuous times take it out of you! Is it any wonder your nerves suffer.

Do not allow this condition to continue too long, or you may do yourself irreparable harm—some serious disease may be the result. Your body is crying out for assistance and Sanatogen contains exactly those helpful elements
your body needs. Start your course of Sanatogen today, and drink in new health and vitality, just as the parched earth takes in rain, your overstrained nerves will drink in Sanatogen. Energy will return and soon you will enjoy again that priceless feeling of youthful fitness.
Sanatogen has made you thoroughly healthy again!

NERVES?

NERVES?

A London physician
writes:
"A noteworthy effect
of Sanatogen is a better appetite, which is generally noticed within three or four days after beginning this nerve food."

One of the many forms in which
"nerves" manifest themselves is disorders of the stomach. Digestion—
like every other function of the body
—is governed by the nervous system.
"Heavy digestion", "weak stomach",
—all those troubles are in 9 out of 10 cases due to overstrained nerves. That is why Sanatogen often works wonders in all troubles of the stomach and the intestines. And even in the most serious cases of stomach disease Sanatogen is prescribed by the leading physicians, because it not only regulates the functions of the stomach,

but also because it is so easily digestible
and gives the stomach a rest. Enjoy your meals again, enjoy life again, by taking Sanatogen. Sanatogen is absolutely trustworthy. Over 25,000 physicians have expressed their admiration in writing.

Here is Health!

SANATOGEN
adds health to your system. It conquers nervous conditions by feeding the nerves, is easily digestible and gives new fresh blood.

And that famous medical paper, "The Lancet", says:
"There is abundant evidence of the value of Sanatogen as a restorative and food, more especially in cases of general debility."

EMPIRE EXHIBITION ARRANGEMENTS

Unparalleled Preparations

Unparalleled preparations are being made throughout South Africa for the Empire Exhibition which is to take place in 1936,
at Johannesburg, to-day considered to be the most prosperous and probably also the fastest-growing city in the world, on account of the Gold Boom, which has raised the annual output of its mines
from £50,000,000 to £80,000,000.

Negotiations for the forthcoming
display go back as far as 1924,
and for a year the preliminaries have been under way. Such is the scale on which the Exhibition
—described by high authorities,
as "The Biggest Thing since Wembley"—has been planned, that although the gates will not open till September 1936, a large staff occupying three buildings, is already in occupation, and a force of black labourers, increasing daily, is engaged on the first earthworks.

The general management is now in the hands of Mr. B. M. Bellas, the well-known specialist on this subject, from the Federation of British Industries.

Over a hundred acres of ground
belonging to the Witwatersrand Agricultural Society and previously used by it for its annual Easter Show, have been reserved for the Empire Exhibition gardens. At least thirteen acres will be under roof.

Publicity on a world-wide scale
is being organized in collaboration with the South African Government Railways.

No fewer than 20,000,000 pages
of propaganda are in progress, of being issued through the Government Printer at Pretoria, apart from other literature. Particularly interesting is a brochure, entitled "Cape to Cairo," in the preparation of which all African states from Egypt southwards have collaborated, and which is designed to serve as a guide-book to travellers from Europe and elsewhere, hundreds of whom will come along the route immortalized

by Cecil John Rhodes.

Assurances of support have been received from every part of the British Empire, and ample funds are available, including a grant of £50,000 from the South African Government, and £50,000
from the city of Johannesburg,
further large amounts from public and private authorities.

THE BOOKINGS

Within a single week of the announcement that space was available, an acre and a half was booked by South African manufacturers and a similar response has been met with in other parts of the Empire, close on 500 firms
having already established contact with the London office, alone.

Applications for accommodation continue to stream in at Milner Park, Johannesburg.

Tangible evidence of the commencement of work is the demolition of several, shabby, old buildings of corrugated iron, dating from the early days of the Witwatersrand Agricultural Society. On the site of, these two of the first heavy machinery halls, designed for permanent erection, will begin to rise within a few days. Excavations have also started for the artificial lake, which will be fed by an artificial waterfall, and surrounded by a unique South African rock-garden, including many rare
specimens of Cape flora.

Two of South Africa's distinguished horticultural experts, Mr.
F. Frith who laid out the renowned rock-garden at Wembley 1924-5, and Mr. Wickins, late of the Government service, who was responsible for planning the impressive grounds at the Union Government buildings at Pretoria. Sir Herbert Baker's masterpiece, have been secured to supervise the layout of the entire Exhibition grounds.

Mr. Frith is a specialist on the desert plants of the Karroo and other arid regions, which specialists acknowledge to be the most interesting of their kind anywhere.
He will now develop a great rock-garden on the Milner Park hillside.

BLUE-BLOSSOMED TREES

Jacarandas, the beautiful blue-blossomed trees, that are a feature of the streets of Pretoria and other South African cities of this country, will be planted all over the grounds, and a special feature will be the presence of a long Main Avenue, to be illuminated at night, which will lead up to a 200 foot tower, the central point of the Exhibition.

Barbaric native war-dances,
pageants of picturesque African history, with the Portuguese Con-quistadores, early Boer settlers, fearsome Zulu chiefs, and other notable figures will be enacted in the vast, central, open-air Auditorium, designed to contain 12,000 seats in the stands, and a total of 20,000 when its grassy floor is included.

Planting the trees, digging the roads and drains, and other important works have already started.

The city of Johannesburg is collaborating extensively in all these tasks. Apart from the numerous industrial and pleasure pavilions, Great Britain and the other Dominions and Colonies from various parts of South Africa are designing their own structures. Important undertakings like the Railways Administration, the Iron and Steel Works of Pretoria, the Transvaal Chamber of Mines, which latter represents the gold industry, etc., etc., are all having their own buildings, many of the ideas embodied being unique.

Three miles of bus services are being operated in the grounds themselves.

THE CONFERENCES

Concurrently with the Empire Exhibition, a long series of important conferences will be held,
for which the preparations are now being made. They include:

The S.A. Association for the Advancement of Science's Annual Congress;

The Empire Civil Metallurgical
Congress;

The Empire Civil Aviation Conference;

FIGHTING ON FRONTIER

Surprise Attack By Tribesmen

(Special Air Mail Service)

London, Oct. 10.

Two British officers were killed,
four British officers wounded, and between 70 and 80 other ranks were killed and wounded in an action which took place between the Mohmand Force and hostile
tribesmen on the Mohmand front.
The names of the British casualties given here are:—

Killed.—Lieutenant A. P. S. Rendell and Captain G. Meynell, both of the 5th/12th Frontier Force Regiment (Queen Victoria's Own Corps of Guides).

Wounded.—Lieutenant J. N. D.
Tyler and Lieutenant R. E. T.
Keelan, Royal Artillery; Major S.
B. Good and Lieutenant G. J.
Hamilton, 5th/12th Frontier Force Regiment.

The troops, who were reconnaitring from Wacha Jawar Camp
—one of the new forward camps
in the neighbourhood of the Nahakki Pass—were engaged by a "lashkar" (tribal force), which is understood to have suffered very heavy casualties. The numbers of the "lashkars" to the west of the camps at Katsal, Wacha Jawar, and Nahakki have been increasing for some days, in spite of the fact that overtures for peace were being made by the tribesmen. It is estimated that 1,400 tribesmen remain in arms
in the area.

The Kamal, Isa Khel, and Burhan Khel tribes had sent in
"jirgas" to the political officer stating their desire for peace and making their submission. They were received in a friendly manner
and were allowed to return to their own country. The Mital and Musa Khel have also sent in messages saying that they wish to bring the elders of the Safis into the negotiations. On hearing this the authorities suspended operations over the Safi country and invited them to send their "jirgas. In view of this latest action, which implies the flouting of the Government's attempts to get into friendly touch with the Upper Mohmands, the Government have been forced to reconsider their attitude.

EVACUATION OF CHINESE MISSION STATIONS

(Special Air Mail Service)

London, Oct. 10.

The Rev. Dr. Arthur Taylor,
Scottish secretary of the China Inland Mission, received news by cable yesterday from the headquarters of the mission in Shanghai to the effect that the mission stations in the North-West Province of Kansu are being further evacuated.

This Dr. Taylor stated, must be on account of the further advance of the "Reds."

The only Scottish missionaries
who are affected are Mr. Glasford, of Bethany Hall, Bridgeton, and Mrs. Ward, Edinburgh.

Kansu embraces all area nearly the size of France, but it is one of the most sparsely populated of the Chinese provinces. On account of the many catastrophes which have befallen Kansu during the past two decades—earthquake, famine, and Communist invasion—
it has been called "the Cinderella
of the provinces of China."

The cable further stated that two missionaries, who have been in captivity since December, are returning.

The Empire Town-Planning Conference;

The Empire Child and Family Welfare Congress;

The Empire Roads Safety Conference; and the Empire Conference of Citrus Growing. Apart from these a number of interesting specialized displays, such as the Empire Photographic Exhibition, an Empire display for the Blind (including St. Dunstan's), an Empire Philatelic display, and other Empire Exhibitions will take place from time to time.

Generally the view is held in South Africa, that with present unparalleled growth in the size of Johannesburg, now possessing half a million people, in the centre of the Rand gold district which has nearly twice that population, the time of the forthcoming event is particularly well chosen.

The policy which authorities are maintaining is to make the Empire Exhibition more than a mere localized affair, even though Johannesburg, will simultaneously celebrate its 50th anniversary.

SURPRISE FOR SCOTLANDCombination And Spirit

(Special Air Mail Service)

London, Oct. 10.
With a team dictated by the calls of English League clubs Wales surprised Scotland, joint holders of the international championship, by drawing 1-1 at Car-diffe in the first international match of the season. The Welsh-men deserve great praise for their refusal to admit the obvious individual superiority of their opponents.Both teams played the third-back game. Simpson, of Scotland, fulfilled the duties more thorowly
than Griffiths, but the Welsh centre half-back was so confident in the ability of his backs, once they had settled down that he took risks in helping the attack without incurring disaster to his side. Anderson was better than Cummings at full-back. The Par-rick Thistle man seldom marked Phillips properly, and Brown, the left half-back had to divide his time between watching P. Jones and the wings. R. John, left fullback for Wales, was beaten for pace during the early part of the match, but on the whole he gave a splendid display. He was never in a hurry to rid himself of the ball and controlled it well. Richards, a half-back with a long throw, and Murphy covered a deal of ground and helped their forwards immensely. Had Glover been a trifle quicker at centre forward Wales would probably have won. L. Jones, who fed Glover constantly, was the best forward on his side. B. Jones and Phillips revealed a pretty understanding and Robbins showed initiative in occasionally tricking Anderson and Massey.The first goal came after thirty-four minutes. Much credit for this was due to Delaney. The right wing beat R. John for pace and sent the ball to Armstrongs
with a square pass; the centre forward's first-time drive came to nothing when John punched it away hard, but the ball dropped to the feet of Duncan, who, with no one to challenge him, had plenty of time to place the ball in the corner of the net with his left foot. The lead was short-lived:
Scotland held it no more than seven minutes. Then Robbins centred to Glover, and although Jackson beat the Grimsby centre
forward in a rush for the ball Phillips dashed in, hooked it away from the goalkeeper, and scored coolly from ten yards' range.GROWING UNREST IN GERMANY

(Special Air Mail Service)

London, Oct. 10.

The local section of the Nazi Labour Front in Dortmund, one of Germany's largest industrial cities, called together on Saturday and Sunday employers and employees alike to take part in a mass demonstration of loyalty to the Nazi party. This type of demonstration is intended to distract public attention from the economic difficulties being felt throughout Germany, especially in the working districts.Following are the chief points
made by various speakers:Deputy District Leader Stuerz:
"Leaders of industrial enterprises and workers have come together to serve Germany. What was once impossible has been made possible,
and much more will be possible
later.""What protects us from despair, despite all the difficulties of our position, is the belief in the divine mission of the German Leader and in the German people. The 'Great Ally' does not intend that our people should be submerged."

HITLER AS COPERNICUS

Herr Boerger, the local trustee of labour, compared Herr Hitler with Copernicus. "Every child,"
he said, "knows that the earth turns round the sun. In the same way our Leader has recognised the great laws of nature which apply to the nation, and we must not be mere 'hangers on,' but real followers of the Leader to the better future which awaits the country."In the industrial cities and in the poorer parts of Berlin exasperation with economic conditions has been evident during the last few days. Women of the working classes as they went from shop to shop here to-day in search of cheap margarine and pork fat openly made bitter remarks which had they been con-REPLACING THE

(Special Air Mail Service)

London, Oct. 10.

It looks as if an attempt may be made by Glasgow Corporation to use the 1935 Housing Act as the basis of a demand upon Parliament to extend the boundaries of the city. The Act, it is said, will call for the provision of more houses than the present
area of the city can accommodate. The need has not yet been determined at all—precisely, nor is it likely to be for some time to come. But the figures quoted the other day by the Town Clerk,
in opening the Housing Exhibition, must be accepted as an authoritative estimate. Mr. Stenhouse, put it that 50,000 houses will be required to effect the de-crowding sought by the new Act and that, in addition, 12,000 to 15,000 houses have to be built to replace existing slums. Even assuming that some redevelopment
may be carried out in the cleared areas the situation as thus presented indicates that new site accommodation has to be got for some 60,000 houses. Where is it to be had?

40,000 HOUSES

Under the last big extension of the city—that of 1925—considerable areas of land were transferred from the counties, particularly Renfrewshire, and much of that accession is still unutilized.
Altogether some 40,000 acres of unbuilt-on land situated within the bounds remain to be exploited.
That means that, on paper at least, sufficient site accommodation is available within the municipal zone for the erection of 40,000 houses. At the present rate of building that reserve
would do for another ten years
at least, especially in view of the fact that slum clearance work will have to be continued simultaneously with the de-crowding development. The position can hardly be said therefore to be desperate.
But these are considerations that are sure to be brushed aside today as not quite relevant to the situation radically altered by the State-inspired campaign against overcrowding. The production of houses, it will be represented,
is to be greatly speeded-up, with the prospect that this crow room will be exhausted in half the normal time. Parliament will be held to have driven Glasgow into prospecting for housing sites not obtainable in the city, and that will be made the foundation of a plea that it is bound on that account to favour substantial extension of the boundaries.But the question of extension properly involves other important considerations. It will assuredly do so when it is brought before Parliament, and the Corporation Committee would be well advised to try to anticipate the points that will be raised. Prominent among these, it may be taken,
will be the question whether a larger Glasgow will be an efficient administrative unit. That issue, will be raised if there is any wide reaching out to fairly self-contained communities who are satisfied that their interests are better served under the status quo than if they were annexed to Glasgow with its heavy local burdens. Expensive failure would be almost inevitable if the promoters of the extension scheme showed a voracious appetite.

WISER POLICY

The wise policy at this juncture would be that of limiting the appeal to boundary adjustments that can be warranted by proofs of the closest social kinship between the areas concerned and the city. With ambitions restrained in that way
the chances might well be improved of securing by voluntary negotiation portions of undeveloped land from the counties.
There may be a temptation to urge city extension for Glasgow on the ground that Birmingham and Edinburgh have been permitted to spread themselves more widely,
although in point of population
and valuation they are inferior.
This comparison has to be qualified, however, by the fact that the cost of administration in these cities has not produced the same repugnance to amalgamation as unfortunately the position in Glasgow has done.fined to a few individuals only would have led to police action.The shortage of butter—continues, and I heard to-day that none at all is being supplied to the sick in one of the Berlin hospitals.

PROFESSOR'S SON

Glasgow University Appointment

(Special Air Mail Service)

Glasgow, Oct. 10.

Mr. James Carmichael Watson,
M.A., son of Professor W. J. Watson, of the Chair of Celtic at Edinburgh University, has been appointed Lecturer in Celtic Literature in the University of Glasgow.The decision to appoint Mr.
Watson to the lectureship was made yesterday at a meeting of the Glasgow University Court.Although only 26, Mr. Watson is already well-known as a student,
poet, and author of Celtic literature, and has made notable contributions to the philology of the Celt.His knowledge of Gaelic is exceptionally wide, for his father has fostered his natural linguistic gifts, and he has grown up with a Gaelic background. Mr. Watson acquired the spoken language and English simultaneously.

BRILLIANT SUCCESSES

His scholastic career has been marked by brilliant successes. At Edinburgh Royal High School the new lecturer was dux in Classics
and won the City of Edinburgh
Medal in Latin and the MacGregor Medal for Greek.Medalist and first prizeman in the ordinary degree class of Celtic in 1929, he graduated in 1932 with first class honours in Classics, with comparative philology as his special subject. He was elected to the Bruce of Grangehill Scholarship awarded to "the candidate
most distinguished in the examination for final honours."Mr. Watson was appointed to the Scott Travelling Scholarship
in 1933, and accompanied Professor W. M. Calder on an expedition for

THE STRESEMANN LETTER

(Special Air Mail Service)

London, Oct. 10.

The remarkable letter from Stresemann to the German Crown Prince, whose publication is due to Mr. Wickham Steed, shows how completely Stresemann was Hitler's forerunner, and how mistaken are those who envisage him as a forlorn idealist battling for European pacification alike against German and Allied intransigence.The letter is an entirely Machivillian document. It was written in September 1925, just before the conclusion of the Locarno Pact
and Germany's admission to the League. He writes of the Rhineland Security Pact that it—"carries with it renunciation of a fight with France for the recovery of Alsace-Lorraine, and German renunciation which,
however, is theoretical only inasmuch as there is no possibility of making war upon France."German policy generally, he writes—"will have to be, for the present, what Metetrich said about Austria after 1869—to use finesse and evade big decisions."Such reasoning, except that it is coherent and intelligently expressed, is as characteristic of the Third Reich as of the defunct Republic.the investigation of Greek Christian inscriptions in Asia Minor.On his return to Edinburgh University he graduated again with first-class honours in Celtic language and literature. He was awarded the Macpherson Scholarship in Celtic. Since then he has studied at Bonn University.Mr. Watson is at present engaged on a critical re-edition of the earliest independent vocabulary of Scottish Gaelic, that of Alexander MacDonald, the poet, published in

AN AMAZING
VICTORYDown Five Times
And Wins

(Special Air Mail Service)

London Oct. 10.
An astonishing fight, with all the drama of the most incredible film, ended amid wild excitement at the Albert Hall, when Harry Mizler, of St. Georges, London, the former British light-weight champion, knocked out Gustav Humery, lightweight champion of France, in the eighth round.

For seven rounds Mizler had been battered from corner to corner by the fierce and powerful Frenchman. Five times he had been knocked down for long counts, each time struggling painfully to his feet to avoid being counted out by a second or so.
And towards the end of the third round only the fact that the referee cautioned Humery about a low blow saved Mizler from being finished there and then.

Mizler sat on the lower rope huddled-up and helpless. Humery stood off, not knowing whether to hit him or not. The bell went,
and the referee himself did not know until he had consulted the timekeeper whether Mizler had been counted.

MIZLER DOWN THREE TIMES
Three times in that third round had Mizler been put down. He seemed to have reached the point of utter exhaustion.

In the fifth round another mighty punch to the body sent Mizler down again. He pulled himself upright by the use of the ropes, staggered through that round, and was all but knocked out again in the sixth, when he took another count of nine seconds.

The transformation in the eighth round was one of those miracles
of the ring that one sees perhaps once in twenty years. A very fine right-hand punch to the jaw, a blow precisely the same as one he had landed in the first round, shook the tough Frenchman. For the first time in the fight he paused and waited.

FRENCHMAN DAZED

Mizler's coolness in this critical moment was that of the truly great fighter. He upped Humery twice, dazed him, and then crashed home two more punches to the jaw. One of the uppercuts had split Humery's upper lip. The Frenchman's arms dropped to his side. He turned round, with his back to Mizler.

The Englishman looked at the referee, who signalled him to continue. One more punch, however,
and the towel was thrown in.
Humery, his eyes glazed and blood streaming down his chest, was led to his corner. The fight was over.

In a 12-round lightweight fight
George Daly of Blackfriars beat Seaman Watson of Newcastle, the former featherweight champion.
Watson retiring in the eighth round owing to a cut beside the left eye.

Results of six-rounds contests were:—

Reg Milligan (Watford) outpointed Jack Keenan (Scotland).
Billy Charlton (Newcastle) knocked out Peter Clayton (Southall) in the first round; Bert Ison (Lecester) beat Tommy Lave (Hoxton)
on points; Jack Watkins (Muswell Hill) gained a points win over George Revel (Dagenham).

In a four-rounds bout Pat Daly
(Scotland) beat Ronnie Davis
(Notting Hill) on points.

FRONTIER SURPRISE

(Special Air Mail Service)

London, Oct. 10.
The sudden disaster to a contingent of the Guides Corps near the Nahakki Pass, on the North-West Frontier, when everything suggested that the Mohmands had been awed into submission, is an example of how precarious military operations are in that region.

Brigadier Auchinleck's force of 15,000 men seemed to have frightened away hostile tribesmen, travellers passing through the district reported a move amongst them in favour of submission, and then suddenly they execute this successful ambush.

They are warlike, fearless men,
they know the country perfectly,
and are able to make the fullest
use of its strategic advantages,
and thus can on occasion defy vastly superior and better-equipped military forces.

It is the kind of difficulty the Italian army will be up against in Abyssinia, and without the long experience of tribal war that the Indian army has.

GALA PREMIERE AT QUEEN'S THEATRENEW ALL-COLOUR DRAMAMiriam Hopking, Star In
"Becky Sharp"A PERFECT
CHOICE

All Hollywood agrees, for probably the first time in history,
that Miriam Hopking was the perfect choice for the role of Becky Sharp in the new all-Technicolour film drama of that name, and one of the most eagerly-awaited pictures in years.

Miriam, say those who know,
is magnificently fitted to play
the mad, bad, glad heroine whom William Makepeace Thackeray thought up for the central character of "Vanity Fair," his stirring satiric blast at English society of a hundred years ago.
Miss Hopking's sparkle, charm and dramatic power give life to this great character of a 19th century gold-digger, who preyed upon wealth and power for the sake of man she really loved.

Then, too, her exquisite blonde beauty proved, after a series of exacting colour tests, to be perfect for the new-perfected Technicolour process in which
"Becky Sharp" is made, bringing its beauty to the screen for the first time, and marking the film's first historic advance since the coming of sound.

HER CAREER

It's interesting to recall that Miriam's career parallels, in a way, that of the vivid Becky—though of course La Hopking has not done any preying on wealth
and power for love or anything else.

Miriam fought her way to fame and wealth, as did the ambitious Becky—but Miss Hop-king's life came in times when there were other careers for women beside marriage and the home.

She came up from Atlanta,
afame with ambition for the theatre, and began her career as a chorus girl in the first famous "Music Box Revue."

Soon she graduated to the dramatic stage, where she became one of the most popular ingenues on the New York stage.
Her brilliant work in "Lysistrata" brought her to Hollywood, where she rapidly became one of the most popular actresses on the screen, famous for her blonde winsomeness, her charm in light comedy and her depth and power in dramatic roles.

A TRUE TROUPE

The making of "Becky Sharp" was arduous, and not without mishap, but Miriam carried on like a true trouper, full of enthusiasm for the drama itself
and for the beauty of the new Technicolour.

Miss Hopking was on the set for a week, threatened with pneumonia. At another time a gown she was wearing caught fire, though she was saved from injury by the quick work of a stage hand. But her sunny spirits and her high spirits carried her to new acting heights
—and the most beautiful Miriam Hopking you have ever seen will flash before you in "Becky," with all her natural colours intact.
It will have its Gala Premiere on Friday at 9.30 p.m. at the Queen's Theatre.

Francis Dee and G. P. Huntley, Jr. in "Becky Sharp."

FILM CLINCHES GROW SHORTER

Whatever else they take credit for, the films are certainly competent mirrors of the styles of nations. Fifteen years ago they projected on the screen the long, romantic clinch which, with the lingering kiss, set an example in courtship manners and methods.

What an institution can do an institution can break, and after fifteen years of endurance clinches Hollywood has definitely eschewed them, for the moment at least.

King Vidor, famous director of Paramount's "So Red The Rose,"
says that five years ago the average length of a film kiss was 72 inches... which means four seconds of blissful osculation.

"Young girls to-day would laugh
at a four-second kiss off the screen,"
he declares. "Nowadays, the time taken for the longest kiss on the screen is one second and a half."

Fortunately for Japan and China, says Vidor, they are still getting the epics of the silent days
when a kiss was a kiss.

sought-for actors on the screen today, will be co-starred with Bing Crosby in the forthcoming film

Goes."

Bing will sing five songs and

CINEMA TRADE NOTICES

"CARDINAL RICHELIEU"

Approaching the 67th milestone of a career marked by hard work and distinguished accomplishment, George Arliss believes the world is suffering largely from "too much ambition."

Arliss is playing just such a man in his latest picture, "Cardinal Richelieu," Darryl Zanuck's lavish production for 20th Century Pictures, which comes to the King's Theatre on Saturday. But in private life, the actor deprecates excessive ambition.

"A desire to work hard for the sake of doing a good job which is better than ambition as a driving force," says Arliss. "From a desire for self-development, comes happiness. Ambition leads the other way."

Arliss's advice to ambitious youth is to seek not fame, but happiness. This can be attained, he says, by doing "what one most wants to do, no matter what it costs."

"If there is a mistake in the viewpoint of the rising generation, it is the result of its desire to get the most it possibly can without a fully compensated return in the way of effort."

"In my younger days, I had no ambition either to make a lot of money, or to be famous. I merely wanted to become as good an actor as my capabilities would permit. To that end, I made the necessary sacrifices and performed the necessary work."

This will come as a surprise to those who have witnessed the efforts that Arliss puts into his role of "Cardinal Richelieu," his latest production for release through United Artists, and previous films.

THE ARIZONIAN

Two-gun hoodlums who ravaged the west during the early eighties are pictured at their best—which is the worst—in "The Arizonian," commencing to-morrow at the Queen's Theatre. With Richard Dix in the latest. When casting began for "The Arizonian," studio officials sought the grimmest appearing men in Hollywood. The results brought a viciously made-up quintet comprising Joe Sauer, Ray Mayer, Ted Oliver, George Lollar and Robert Kortmen. They play the cohorts of Louis Calhern, as a crooked sheriff, and oppose a peace officer, portrayed by Dix.

"THE FARMER TAKES A WIFE"

It is with another time, another era, that the film writers dealt when they wrote the script for Fox Film's "The Farmer Takes a Wife," which is now at the King's Theatre. A period when a gangling American was growing up into an empire of steam and steel, when the narrow artery of the Erie Canal bore the golden wealth of the West to the seaports of the East, when twenty-mile-an-hour steam trains had just entered into a duel to the death with four-mile-an-hour canal barges.

Walter D. Edmonds first unearthed the chaotic, turbulent and glamorous period in his excellent novel, "Rome Hau." Elser and Connelly dramatized it in their hit stage production, and now the camera gives it more scope, more of the eloquence and the beauty of the natural scene in the Fox Film production of "The Farmer Takes a Wife."

The 1850's are the period of the picture, and Henry Fonda, a boy of the soil who yearns to own a farm of his own, has come to the canals seeking work. He secures work as a boat driver, and professes interest in Janet Gaynor. But Charles Bickford is anxious to do him battle for Miss Gaynor's affection, and Fonda demurs.

Exciting times follow, and soon Fonda owns half-interest in the boat. The only rift in their romance is their division in allegiance; he loves the soil, she is a child of the waterways.

Then the inevitable occurs. Fonda and Bickford meet in battle, and Fonda, to everyone's surprise, administers a sound thrashing to his enemy.

A show-down brings to open battle the marshal's forces with those of the bandit sheriff, gun-play and fighting galore deciding the fate of Silver City's law and order. Dix in the title role, is supported by Margot Grahame, Preston Foster, Louis Calhern and other well known players. Charles Vidor directed for RKO-Radio.

Charlie Chaplin

THROUGH THE YEARS

For over a decade the comic cupers and amusing dilemmas of Charlie Chaplin have been entertaining millions, the world over. Always there has been, in each of his productions, at least one unforgettable incident. Who does not recall them? For instance:

The Pilgrim—When Charlie is left alone for a moment with the very annoying kid, and fetches him a sock on the jaw.

The Kid—When Charlie picks up the infant, and when asked if it is a boy or girl, rushes into a hallway, emerges, and answers: "Boy." In the same film—Jackie Coogan breaking the windows so Chaplin, the glazer, can find work.

The Circus—Charlie's hilarious efforts to take the place of the famous wire walker in helping his employer live up to the theatrical tradition, "the show must go on."

Pay Day—When Charlie comes home late in the morning, tries to sneak into bed, but then sees his wife opening her eyes, and ex-hausted as he is, puts on his jacket and pretends he is getting up.

The Gold Rush—When the shack, with Charlie and his partner in it, rolls onto the edge of the precipice; and the New Year's Eve dinner at which Charlie does the dance with the forks and the rolls.

City Lights—The whistle that gets stuck in Charlie's throat. In the same film—the incident in which Charlie, the tramp, jumps out of the luxurious Rolls Royce automobile to pick up a stray cigarette butt on the sidewalk, much to the astonishment of another tramp. Chaplin's newest production.

Those were grand moments on the screen—and it will be interesting, now, to see what will turn out to be the most memorable incident in "Modern Times." Chaplin's newest production, which is soon to be released through United Artists.

NOEL COWARD

Many people saw Coward for the first time when he appeared on the screen in "The Scoundrel." But they failed to realize that this brilliant young actor, author and composer has been closely connected with the screen for a long time through his plays. A number of his plays have been filmed, and many of them have been outstanding successes.

PAINTING THE TOADS

Of all the seemingly crazy orders given to Hollywood property men, the task of painting spots on a bunch of toads for a scene in Paramount's "The Big Broadcast of 1938," probably takes all the prizes. The toads, which are supposed to frighten Jack Oakie and Wendy Barrie, were found to be lacking definitely in photographic qualities because those didn't show up.

With the entire cast of "The Big Broadcast" gathered round him making funny remarks, Stanley Goldsmith, Paramount property man, had to hold the squirming creatures while he painted brilliant and artistic spots and other trademarks on their backs.

BABY LEROY SPEAKS

Baby Leroy, who has appeared in so many Paramount films without speaking a word, has just talked into the microphone.

It occurred during the filming of "From Little Acorns," and everyone celebrated.

The line was "Jiggers! He's coming," and Baby Leroy spoke it to William Frawley, who laughed so much that it cost Paramount about $40 for another re-take.

DISNEY POKES FUN AT THE STARS

Walt Disney creator of Mickey Mouse and the Silly Symphonies, made a cartoon film some time ago called Hollywood Party. It contained caricatures of the leading film stars. Now he has been at it again. In "Who Killed Cock Robin" several personalities from the film world are introduced.

The main situation in the film takes the form of a skit on the melodramatic trial scenes in crime films. The robin might be any crooner, but is modelled on Bing Crosby. Stepin Fetchit, the lazy negro, appears as one of the prisoners.

ASSAULT CASE

Chu Yee, aged 30, a shop fook was charged before Mr. Wynne-Jones at the Kowloon Magistracy yesterday with having assaulted Lau Ting, aged 22, a bus conductor, on bus No. 629 near the Kowloon Motor Bus Company, Nathan Road, on Monday night.

Defendant, who was a Shanghai man, denied having struck complainant, and stated that he called out to the latter to stop the bus, but apparently he did not understand, so defendant got up to pull the cord, but was stopped by the complainant, and they had an argument.

Inspector Portallion for the prosecution stated that about 8.30 on Monday night, defendant was travelling on a bus which ran on the Un Long to Kowloon route. After the bus had passed the stop at the Police Training School at the junction of Nathan and Prince Edward Roads, defendant wanted to alight and tried to pull the bell. Complainant stopped him and defendant lost his temper and struck the conductor on the eye. The bus was stopped and the driver and complainant chased the defendant. Police whistles were blown and defendant was arrested by two Indian constables.

ANOTHER CASE

A further case of assault was heard by the Kowloon Magistracy, when Tam Kwong, (35) was charged with assaulting Au Kam-yan. Both bound over in the sum of $50 each to keep the peace for 12 months.

Inspector Shannon stated that on the evening of October 21 complainant went to the Yau-mat Police Station and reported that he had been stabbed with a chisel on the right arm. He was sent to hospital, but was discharged, as the wound was not serious. About 8.15 p.m. on Monday complainant was in Temple Street, when defendant came up and assaulted him. Complainant shouted out and defendant ran away. He was followed by a crowd to Shanghai Street where he ran up the stairway of No. 128. A detective who was attracted by the commotion ran up and arrested him.

EXTRADITION CASE

The extradition proceedings against Chiu Shiu-ling, alias Tsui Kau, alias Chan Siu-tun, wanted by the Canton authorities in connection with a robbery at Ko Sa Village, Siu Lam, Chung Shan District, in the province of Kwangtung on May 5 last, were concluded before Mr. W. Schofield at the Central Magistracy yesterday. Judgment was, however, reserved. The Magistrate intimating that this would be delivered at 11 a.m. on November 1.

Yesterday's hearing was mostly devoted to the final addresses by the prosecution and the defence. Mr. J. A. Fraser, the Assistant Attorney General prosecuted, while the fugitive was represented by Mr. G. S. Hugh-Jones.

The prosecution alleged that defendant, together with nine others, had robbed a farmer, Liu Shuen-lung (since dead) of the sum of $1,055 in Cantonese money.

It will be recalled that the defence put forward by defendant was that at the time of the robbery, he was a detective in one of the troops under the control of the Magistrate of Chung Shan District. The present charge was brought by complainant, who was the son of the victim of the alleged robbery because defendant had done his duty by arresting him, his deceased father and another man for stealing liches. Documents such as newspaper cuttings one of which indicated that defendant was doing some policing duty on the day of the robbery were produced by the defence.

DENTIST FINED

For failing to report his departure to Macao on two specific dates (October 21 and 26) Shinichi Yamamoto, (52) dentist was fined $10 or 14 days imprisonment by Mr. Balfour at the Central Magistracy yesterday. Defendant admitted his guilt, and it was explained by the prosecuting officer, Sub-Inspector Nolloth, of the Registration of Persons Office, that defendant registered as an alien in July last year and had made several trips from there for Canton, Macao and other ports. He was told last month that he must report his departures and arrivals. The police wished to impress on all aliens in the Colony that they must do likewise.

BORE NO MALICE

J. A. Gutierrez, aged 38 years, a Portuguese clerk, pleaded guilty before Mr. Balfour at the Central Magistracy yesterday to charges of being drunk and disorderly in Queen's Road Central and assaulting Li Cheung (30) of No. 23 Queen's Road Central. Defendant was bound over on the first count in a bond of $50 to come up for judgement within a year, and was ordered to pay $5 compensation to Li Cheung.

Defendant in stating his side of the case, said that he bore no-one any malice. He had had some drinks yesterday, after he had the misfortune to be discharged from his post at the Hong Kong Hotel, and was in the act of entering the hotel for a drink, when two persons, one of whom was Li Cheung, blocked his way.

He resented this and struck one of the persons. He could not say for certain whether he was attacked first.

Inspector Smith, for the prosecution stated that Li Cheung received a black eye.

Defendant intimated to the Bench that he would be leaving the Colony in a week, and as far as his work was concerned at the Hotel, he bore a clean record.

STUDENT IN TROUBLE

A 22-year-old student from Canton, named Chan Chun Fong, was brought before Mr. Balfour at the Central Magistracy yesterday on a charge of the possession of four bottles of dutiable brandy at Hennessy Road, Wanchai.

Mr. F. G. Nigel, appearing on behalf of Mr. J. P. Lambert, local representative of Rondon and Company, agents for Hennessy brandy, handed in an additional charge against the defendant alleging that on October 26 at 128 Kennedy Road, top floor, he unlawfully had in his possession for sale four bottles of adulterated liquor to which a trade mark was falsely applied.

Mr. Nigel informed the Magistrate that he understood the bottles in question contained some form of alcohol, tea and sugar.

Defendant stated that he was ignorant of the law, and had been instructed by his father to bring the bottles to Hong Kong.

Hearing was remanded until Saturday at noon, bail being allowed at $500.

For the unlawful possession of 1,000 heroin pills at Nelson Street near Reclamation Street on Monday last, Lung Fung (27) unemployed, was brought before Mr. Wynne-Jones at the Kowloon Magistracy yesterday, and a fine of $500, with the alternative of three months' hard labour was imposed. Inspector Portallion appeared for the prosecution.

For the theft of a wallet containing $1.21 from the person of Lui Shu, tailor, at Battery Street last night, Li Wah (18) unemployed, was sentenced to four months' hard labour by Mr. E. I. Wynne-Jones at the Kowloon Magistracy yesterday. Inspector Shannon stated that a Chinese detective saw defendant coming away from a crowd of people with the wallet. While he was questioning the man complainant came up and stated that he had lost the purse.

"I wonder if he's the man who took the Supreme Court clock," remarked the Kowloon Magistrate. Mr. E. I. Wynne-Jones, when Kwok Po (23) unemployed, appeared before him this morning on a charge of stealing a clock and a piece of iron from the Kwong Hing Loong Glass Factory, Pine Street, on Monday. Sentence of six weeks' hard labour was passed. Inspector Portallion stated that the man was seen with the articles at Tong Mei Road, a 10.30 p.m. Enquiries were made and the man took the police to the factory.

Sentences totalling four months' hard labour were passed upon Lam Hoi (23) unemployed, when he pleaded guilty before Mr. E. I. Wynne-Jones at the Kowloon Magistracy yesterday to stealing a cotton singlet from No. 5 Canton Road and a suit of cotton clothing from No. 7 Canton Road last night. Detective-Sergeant D. Davies stated that at 4.50 a.m. on Monday defendant awakened the inmates of No. 7 Canton Road, first floor, by knocking over a stool. He climbed down into the street from the verandah and was chased and arrested near the Tinshatui market.

AIR CONDITIONING AND ITS ADVANTAGES

Interesting Talk At The Rotary Club

Plant At The New Bank

Air Conditioning, its workings and advantages, were fully explained by Mr. E.M.K. Mead who was responsible for the putting up of the system at the new Hong Kong and Shanghai Bank Building, at the weekly tiffin of the Rotary Club held at the Hong Kong Hotel yesterday. Professor L. Forster presided.

Mr. Mead in his talk explained the lay out of the plant, its functions and everything that had anything to do with the smooth running of the system. He voiced the hope that should any new buildings be put up in Hong Kong in the near future those responsible will not forget to install the air conditioning system as in a few years he was sure every home and building will be equipped with one.

The speaker was introduced to the gathering by Professor Forster who stated that there was no one better qualified to speak than Mr. Mead as he was the man responsible for the putting up of the system at the new Bank Building.

The following guests were introduced:

Messrs. A. N. Braudi, S. T. Greene, P. B. Parks, F. L. Hunt, R.A.F. Lt. Metcalfe, R.A., Mr. W. J. Lockhart-Smith (Hong Kong) and Dr. J. P. Maxwell (Peking).

Addressing the gathering Mr. Mead said:

I am afraid that this talk will be somewhat disjointed, but I feel sure that you will appreciate the difficulties of trying to put together a coherent paper during the last few days before leaving the Colony, and that you will therefore forgive its shortcomings.

Air Conditioning is a subject which cannot fail to provoke interest in anyone living in such a climate as this. Die-hards are apt to speak with heat about any "tampering with nature" even as they slip their anti-pantheistic gin. The same argument was no doubt used when baths were first introduced. But speaking seriously, it must be obvious that if one can work all day and even sleep all night under temperate climatic conditions, the physical and mental drain on one's vitality will be much reduced. To produce such conditions is the aim in an air conditioned building.

EARLIEST ATTEMPTS

The history of the subject goes back a long way. The earliest attempts to control the conditions inside a building were of course connected with heating only. The Romans brought the warming of their buildings to a very high degree of perfection by passing warm air through under-floor channels. It is incidentally interesting to note that such a system in essentials is being embodied in Liverpool Cathedral with extremely good results. During the last century, central heating came to be developed, and later ventilating systems as well. But the defects of warming or cooling the air only, without attempting to control the humidity gradually came to be appreciated. Some of the earliest air conditioning systems were developed and installed in England, but as climatic conditions there are not nearly so severe as in North America, it is in that continent that the largest number of installations have been made.

THE CINEMAS

At home the chief application has been to Cinemas, and other places of entertainment, but its installation is rapidly increasing in modern city office buildings. The great advantages to be secured by keeping the windows shut so as to exclude smuts and dirt as well as traffic noises while also working in a comfortable and well ventilated atmosphere are being fast realised. A further advantage is that where sites are extremely valuable, not only can the staff be comfortably accommodated in a smaller area per head, but spaces such as basement floors which were not previously available, can now be used for staff under completely healthy conditions.

A certain large banking firm in London recently made a detailed cost study when rebuilding their offices, and were able to satisfy themselves beyond all doubt, that it paid to install an air conditioning system in their offices. In order to increase the space available for staff, even without assessing the value of the increase in efficiency due to comfortable working conditions.

After these general statements, I think it would perhaps be of interest to you to describe in some detail the air conditioning system recently installed in the new Building of the Hong Kong and Shanghai Bank here.

THE NEW BANK

The Air Conditioning Plant, and the Panel Heating System were designed simultaneously so as to ensure comfortable working and living conditions inside the building throughout the year. In the summer the air is cooled and dehumidified, in the spring and autumn the air is, if necessary, dehumidified, while in the winter the building itself is warmed and the air is also brought to the required temperature and humidity. The whole process is automatically controlled by thermostats and humidostats of types which are known by practical experience to need the minimum of attention when once adjusted. It need hardly be emphasised that in the summer, the reduction in the humidity of the air is even more important than reduction in temperature.

THE OPERATION

The operation of the air conditioning system is a continuous cycle. From the outlet of each conditioning unit, centrifugal fans deliver the appropriate quantity of air to the various rooms through sheet metal ducts. The gratings through which the air passes into and out of each room are so placed as to ensure thorough circulation of the air without giving rise to draughts. A quantity of air corresponding to that admitted is extracted from each room. Part of this air is returned to the unit to be reconditioned while the remainder is discharged.

An ample quantity of fresh air equal in amount to the vitiated air discharged is also passed to the conditioning unit through a special filter which removes all dust. The waste air discharged from the plant is used to ventilate the basement of the building, in which is located centralised equipment, such as some of the air conditioning units themselves, the Refrigerating Plant, and the Boilers, as well as the workshops. Thence, the air is passed through the silver vaults before being finally discharged outdoors. From this it will be seen that the maximum advantage is being obtained from even the waste conditioned air to ventilate spaces which would not otherwise be served, and which do not warrant air conditioning plants of their own.

RECIRCULATING THE AIR

Perhaps a word of explanation as to the reason for recirculating the air is needed. If all fresh air were to be introduced and no air recirculated, the result would be that a large volume of conditioned air would constantly be blown to waste while the running cost would be increased out of all proportion to the advantages gained. As long as a reasonable quantity of outdoor air is introduced into the system, the air in the building will remain perfectly fresh, and the running cost will be kept within reason. In accordance with usual good practice, the air from all kitchens, bath rooms, and lavatories in the building is separately exhausted by special fans and blown to waste.

Each conditioning unit consists essentially of a spray chamber or washer, through which the air is passed. By adjustment of the temperature of the water pumped through the sprays, the temperature and therefore the moisture content of the air leaving the washer is controlled. The air is then rewarmed to produce the re-

At first sight it may be difficult to appreciate why passing air through water sprays should reduce instead of increase the humidity. The explanation is this. A quantity of warm air saturated with moisture contains a greater weight of water vapour than an equal quantity of cold saturated air. If then the air is first cooled to the saturation point (the dew point) and then the cooling be continued, a certain amount of moisture has actually to condense out of the air. The amount of moisture left in the air at the end of the process depends on the temperature to which the air is cooled. The air would still be saturated but the actual weight of water vapour per unit is reduced. This is the condition in which the air leaves the washer. If the air is now rewarmed, but not allowed to pick up fresh moisture, it will of course contain less water vapour than previously, that is to say, the relative humidity will have been reduced.

AIR CONDITIONING

For air conditioning purposes the building has been divided up into a number of different zones, each served by a separate air conditioning unit. Each zone has been so chosen that all the rooms in the zone have similar temperature and humidity requirements. Economy in running also results, since it is thus possible to condition some parts of the building independently of others. For instance, the living quarters in the tower of the building are provided with their own conditioning unit so that they may be continuously conditioned even during nights and week ends when the rest of the building is not occupied.

The spray water for the air washers is cooled by means of an ammonia refrigerating plant. This consists of three main portions—the compressors, condensers and evaporators. Heat is removed from the water to be cooled by the ammonia in the evaporator coils round which the water is circulated by electrically driven propellers. The ammonia is then pumped by the compressors from the evaporator coils to the condensers where the ammonia gives up to the sea water, the heat it has absorbed from the water in the evaporator tank. The cycle is completed by the ammonia once more passing to the evaporator coils, the whole operating as a continuous process. Actually the ammonia on being pumped through the compressor, becomes very hot (on the same principle as air being pumped by a bicycle pump) and can therefore readily be cooled by the sea water in the condensers.

THE COMPRESSOR UNITS

In the case of the Bank plant, three compressor units have been provided. They are all electrically driven. Two of the units are of large capacity—roughly 200 H.P. each, while the third is a smaller unit designed to deal with the requirements of the residential flats only when the rest of the building is not occupied, as at week ends and during the night, and so avoid having to run the large units at an uneconomical load. As the refrigerating demand varies widely during different months of the year and also from day to day, the compressors have been so designed that the output may readily be adjusted to suit the varying loads, and thus ensure maximum efficiency in working. It has further been possible to arrange that the large electric motors which drive the compressors can be used for phase compensation of the electric load of the whole building—an important item for reducing the cost of running the electrical installation of the whole building. The condensers for the refrigerating plant are cooled by sea water pumped from, and returned to the Harbour. The sea water pumps at the Praya Wall are so arranged that they can be started up from the basement of the Bank and the valve automatically positioned according to which unit is started. Furthermore, while one pumping unit is running the return water is arranged to wash out the filter of the other unit, so that by operating the pumps alternately the chances of the filters becoming choked are reduced to a minimum. A third small pump to work with the small compressor set is also provided to reduce running costs.

THE WINTER CONDITIONS

For winter conditions, the actual warming required for the fabric of the building is catered for by the Panel Heating System, while the air temperature continues to be

SALE OF WORK

At The Helena May

It is always satisfactory killing two birds with one stone. This afternoon the "Women's Auxiliary" of "The Society for the Protection of Children" are holding their Sale of Work, and there will be a fine selection of Xmas presents on view, as well as a "Produce Stall" where all sorts of delicious edibles will be for sale.

Our children too, are to be catered for. What fun for the rising generation to dip into bran tubs, and fish out all manner of fascinating things for themselves! The opening ceremony will be performed by Lady Southern, and a great many well-known people will be in charge of the stalls.

The Society is in great need of funds—more than ever before, in these hard times—and it is urgent that every body will look in at the Helena May and do some useful shopping, supporting thereby a most deserving cause.—D.E.A.

The Local Lloyd Trieste Office have been informed by their Principals at Trieste (Italy) that, following the wild rumours spreading in the Press and the fears expressed in Foreign Countries that the Italian Government would requisition all goods carried by Italian steamers bound for Italy or in transit only for any other country, the official "Stefani Agency" has issued on the 5th October the following official statement:—

"The fears are absolutely without foundation. The Italian Government exclude most emphatically that there might be any requisition of any cargoes for Italy or transiting Italian ports for any other country, irrespective as to whether the goods are shipped under the Italian or any other flag."

Briefly the Panel System consists of pipes known as "Panels" embedded in the ceiling of the rooms. Through these pipes low temperature hot water circulates. The warmth from the heating panels is almost entirely radiant, and similar to the direct heating of sunlight. It produces a more comfortable atmosphere in the rooms, and is considerably more economical to run than a corresponding radiator system. Its cleanliness in use and hygienic properties have led to the almost universal adoption of the panel system in all modern hospitals in Great Britain and U.S.A., while it is being increasingly used for office buildings and private houses. A further advantage is that no valuable space is occupied by radiators and also that the architectural treatment of the rooms is not hampered by the heating apparatus.

THE DIFFERENCE

By combining the panel heating system with the air conditioning plant, extreme flexibility in temperature conditions is possible—a great advantage in a climate such as this where rapid fluctuations in outdoor conditions take place.

The boilers supplying the hot water used for the panel heating and also for the air warming batteries in the air conditioning units, are located in the basement. They were selected to give long life in service, be economical in running and also to enable replacements to be made easily when the time arrived. The boilers are oil fired by automatically controlled burners—a much cleaner method than coal firing and one which gives almost smokeless combustion.

PREVENTION OF NOISE

Throughout the installation special attention has been paid to the prevention of noise. This may easily arise from electric motors, pumps, fans, and compressors if

FILM STAR'S ROMANCE

Miss Butterfly Wu To Marry

Shanghai, Oct. 25.

News of the approaching marriage of Miss Butterfly Wu, China's foremost film favourite, to Mr. Eugene Penn, owner-manager of the Poca Handels Compagnie, was disclosed yesterday, although the couple hoped to keep the plans secret until a later date.

In an interview with a representative of the "North-China Daily News" late yesterday afternoon Mr. Penn revealed that according to present arrangements the wedding will take place at Holy Trinity Cathedral on November 23. Although plans have not been completed Miss Wu will attempt to choose four bridesmaids from among her many friends. Owing to her great popularity she may add to this group to lessen the difficulty of the task.

After the ceremony the bridegroom-elect expects to entertain over 2,000 guests at a wedding dinner and reception at the Great Eastern Hotel and at the New Asia Hotel. He said that it will be necessary to use both hotels as no one hotel in Shanghai would be large enough to accommodate so many guests. Many government officials will be invited to both the ceremony and the dinner as both number many officials among their friends.

EUROPEAN TRIP POSSIBLE

A tour of Fukien as a honeymoon trip is being discussed although no definite plans have been made. Should his duties in connection with his import and export business permit, they may make a trip to Europe, he stated.

The wedding will be the culmination of a romance which had its inception five years ago at a tea party given at the home of a mutual friend for Miss Wu. For six months they met only casually but since then they have been seen constantly together. They have been engaged for the past three years and take an active interest in each other's activities. Both enjoy riding and driving. They also swim and dance, preferably with one another. Mr. Penn owns four ponies and rides often in the company of Miss Wu. Miss Wu is Cantonese and Mr. Penn is from Fukien.

Both are keenly interested in all forms of art, music, painting and singing. Miss Wu designs her own clothes, the designs being carried out by a well-known Chinese tailor here. Her clothes are always commented on as distinctive and individual, a fact of which her fiancé admitted that he is justly proud.

Since her return from Russia there has been much speculation among the Chinese here concerning Miss Wu's plans for her marriage. After long evasions of dates and places the couple have at last agreed to let Shanghai know that November 23 is to be the date.

She expects to continue her film work which she states is a great joy to her. Mr. Penn is wholly in accord with this intention as he is keenly interested in her work.

SOME ASSETS.

If what our Socialist friends are always telling us is true, that "Capitalism" is doomed, it would be rather alarming since what they call the "capitalist system" is nothing more or less than the way we all live and for which no alternative has ever been invented. It was, therefore, somewhat comforting to read of the speech made by the Chancellor of the Exchequer at the dinner which the Lord Mayor and his good lady gave to our capitalists recently. When it is considered all that Britain has come through of recent years, one might have expected to hear a bad report of the "System" and what struck us most in Mr. Chamberlain's account, of the position was the wonderful buoyancy it revealed, the resilience under all those heavy blows and the burdens which it has had to bear. To find a livelihood either by work or maintenance, for 45 million people in these small islands in the present circumstances of the world must be thought a wonderful achievement. No doubt there are dangerous strains and fatigues which require watching, but all the same the Chancellor of the Exchequer was able to congratulate the nation on the growth of employment and the prosperity of the public purse, two great benefits upon which he has well earned and well deserved the gratitude of the nation.

In spite of the heavy losses which it has suffered, the British nation may still congratulate itself upon certain substantial assets. One of them has been described as a banking system "suited to the needs of the country's commerce, based on firm foundations, not rigid, not inelastic, but freely moving as legitimate requirements demanded." In dealing with another Mr. Montagu Norman used the term "confidence which was built up on sound finance and to some extent on a protective policy." That confidence which was nearly dissipated by a Socialist government has come back to the City of London, due to a greater extent, of its faith in the Chancellor of the Exchequer, who has done all in his power to restrain the extravagance of demagogues. Amongst other things Mr. Chamberlain has had the determination to resist the New Deal which our Old Dealer had tried so hard to press on the nation while he has also resisted certain other plausible policies. Just for example there is the case for the revival of international trade by free intercourse and exchange which was recently suggested at Geneva by the French Minister of Commerce, M. Bonnet. As Mr. Chamberlain points out, that is for countries to consider which have followed high protection and the restriction of imports. In these matters British policy has been moderate for not only are our markets reasonably open, but it may also be said without fear of contradiction that our duties are not prohibitive. The main principle of British policy is still, as Mr. Chamberlain points out, "rather to increase consumption than to restrict production," and if that policy has been modified in certain directions it has been under the pressure of ruinous competition and was therefore unavoidable. The measures of con-

NORTH CHINA TURMOIL

Warnings Issued By Japan

Peking, Oct. 29. Reports of a week past of a new Japanese demarche on North China were substantiated this morning when "warnings" were issued by General Tada as well as the Japanese Consul General in Tientsin and delivered to General Shang Chen, Hopei Chairman, and General Sun Chieh-yuan, Peking-Tientsin Garrison Commander and Mayor of Peking and Tientsin.

These warnings are identical and give many instances of alleged anti-Japanese activities in North China and the activities of the so-called Blue Shirts and call for immediate suppression of all such activities in North China.

It is understood that the action the Japanese propose to take if suppression is not carried out according to their wishes is not stated in the warning.—Reuter.

NOT SUBSTANTIATED

Tientsin, Oct. 29. The arrested members of the Chinese Press Censorship Bureau were released at seven o'clock this evening with the explanation that complaints had been received that they were Blue Shirts and engaged in anti-Japanese activities, which was not substantiated by the investigation.

Six men, five of whom belonged to the Bureau, were taken away the previous evening by a party of Chinese and Japanese who drove up in three cars.—Reuter.

REPORT TO NANKING

Nanking, Oct. 28. Coming with the express purpose of reporting to Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek and Mr. Wang Ching-wei on the latest conditions in Sinkiang, Mr. Chang Yuan-fu, personal representative of General Sheng Shih-tsai, military leader in Sinkiang, arrived here from the North this morning.

Interviewed, Mr. Chang denied the rumours that have been freely circulated regarding Russo-Sinkiang relations. According to Mr. Chang, diplomatic and commercial relations between Soviet Russia and Sinkiang have been comparatively intimate primarily because of the proximity of Russia and the border province.—Central News Agency.

INTERPORT ROWING OFF

Shanghai, Oct. 29. It is understood that, as the result of a special meeting last night of the Committee of the Rowing Club, Shanghai will not participate in the Interport Rowing scheduled for November 23 owing to inability to raise a representative crew.—Reuter.

Indence which our industries and agriculture have received from these measures of defence would be ill-exchanged for anything which other nations are likely to offer.

Free trade is like disarmament, an ideal impossible to realise and therefore dangerous to follow—at least from a "unilateral" point of view. Nor are we more likely to yield in the present circumstances of the world to that other counsel of perfection, the gold standard. Everyone can see the advantages of a stable common international currency, but there are even greater dangers, as Mr. Chamberlain sagely observes, in "attempting to establish a rigid system in a world of instability." There may come a time when these unstable conditions will cease to rock the world like an economic earthquake, and it may then be safe to return to the old system. In the meantime, however, it would not be wise to link ourselves too rigidly to international levels which are liable to be moved by forces which we can neither foresee nor control. Mr. Chamberlain will find entire agreement when he stresses the need for the "utmost circumspection" in a matter which not only concerns ourselves but touches also the vital interests of the Dominions. We are not encouraged to change by the situation of those who follow another policy. For them it may be worth all their sacrifices but we have learnt not to strive for an ideal beyond our reach. To pay our way, to obtain our requirements and support our people are the things we have contrived to do, and to risk so much in the attempt to do better would be sheer folly.

PROGRESS IN CHINA

Praise From League Expert

Geneva, Oct. 28.

A tribute to the sincere effort at reconstruction and reorganisation being made by the Government of China was paid to-day by M. Robert Haas, director of the League of Nations section on Communications and Transit, when he was reporting on his mission to China at the beginning of the year.

He said he was particularly struck by the wholesome spirit with which the Government's efforts had been received. The Government and other authorities can now set out on the path of reconstruction without fear, said M. Haas. Public opinion is behind them and already more critical of inertia and timidity than boldness.

He was also impressed, he said, by the tendency to devise original solutions, conceived with strict regard for the special conditions in the country. League co-operation, however, cannot anywhere cause suspicion or discontent.

In the near future, as far as he can see, the League will probably be called upon to co-operate chiefly in road, transport and hydraulic works, co-operative development, public health, technical and agricultural development, and in certain questions of industrial technique.—Reuter.

KUOMINTANG PARLEY

Shanghai, Oct. 29.

Dr. H. H. Kung, Minister of Finance, and Mr. Chang Chun, Minister of Education, have been trained for Nanking to attend the plenary session of the Central Executive Committee of the Kuomintang Party.

The South-West delegates, Liu Lu-yin, Li Jen-jeh, Teng Ching-yang, Tsai Kwang-hui and Yen Chiu-sze, have arrived from Hongkong. In the course of an interview they stated that they have with them proposals from the South-West, and they are not going to Nanking until there is some sign that the authorities there favourably consider the proposals.—Reuter.

HONG KONG FROM THE MAGIC CARPET

Repulse Bay And The Lido "Shot" Yesterday

The Hong Kong Travel Association are to be congratulated on the great progress they are making in putting Hong Kong right before the eyes of the world. Sponsored by the Association, a small but representative gathering assembled at the Lido, Repulse Bay, yesterday evening when Mr. Bonny Powell representing the Fox Film Company shot a further 800 feet of film for the "Hong Kong Magic Carpet" film, which has been in the making during the past few days. Hong Kong is certainly going to be right in the limelight when this first film is projected on the silver screen.

Yesterday Mr. Powell was busy filming scenes of Repulse Bay and the Lido, and a representative gathering was present to lend splendour to the beautiful scenic shots already taken. Mr. Powell has made many other Magic Carpet films of other lands but in conversation with a "Daily Press" representative yesterday he said that Hong Kong would make a splendid Magic Carpet film. He was particularly interested in scenes of Repulse Bay as he thought that the scenic beauty and surroundings were ideal for the making of a beautiful picture. He has spent the last few days "shooting" different spots of interest in the Colony and he intends to take many more pictures of the daily life of the city and also shots at dusk when he will get the outline of the massive Peak and the millions of lights that go to make Hong Kong one of the prettiest sights by night.

In all about 15,000-ft. of film will be used to make the film and this will be taken back to the states where it will be finished, and before the Summer of 1936, the whole world will be able to see before them on the screen this beautiful Island of Hong Kong.

JAPAN'S PARTICIPATION IN NAVAL TALK

Tokyo, Oct. 29.

The Cabinet has formally approved the Japanese reply accepting Britain's naval conference invitation.

The reply to London, it is understood, simply states Japan's intention to participate and desires the opening of the conference later than December 2 because of the time required for the Japanese delegates to proceed to London.

It has been unofficially decided that Admiral Nagano will be chief delegate with Mr. Matsuzo Nagai, former Ambassador to Germany, as delegate.—Reuter.

FRANCE ACCEPTING

Paris, Oct. 29.

It is unofficially stated here France is accepting the British invitation to the London naval conference and that two French naval experts are leaving for London in the near future in this connection.—Reuter.

MANY LUCKY ESCAPES

Week-end Storm

London, Oct. 28.

Shipping circles are congratulating themselves that no lives were lost in gales which lashed the Atlantic Ocean this week-end, in contrast to last week-end, when the largest number of casualties in many months were suffered by British merchant ships.

Despite the loss of two British steamers, the Berwind ex and the Esthonia, off the Canadian coast, the entire crews were almost miraculously saved.

The Berwind broke in two shortly after her crew abandoned ship and were rescued by the boats of a Canadian salvage tug and a Japanese steamer, the Ensland Maru.

The Esthonia's boats were picked up in the open sea after the vessel herself had foundered.—Reuter.

EYES OF ALL EUROPE NOW TURNED TO GENEVA

Imposition Of Sanctions Against Italy

REPLIES RECEIVED TO LEAGUE NOTES

Embargo On War Materials And Trade Boycott

Geneva, October 29.

The eyes of all Europe are now turned to Geneva to-day as replies steadily poured in to the League's notes to the respective countries regarding the imposition of sanctions against Italy.

Thirty nine states have now agreed to place an embargo on export of arms and munitions to Italy, twenty will impose financial sanctions, nineteen will prohibit export of key materials, while eighteen will refuse to import Italian goods of any description. The latter two undertakings are regarded as being particularly important.

Among the countries which have not replied to the League representations are several South American Republics and Portugal. The Committee of Eighteen will meet on Thursday for the last consultation on sanctions. Sir Samuel Hoare and M. Laval are expected to arrive here on Thursday.—British Wireless.

Geneva, Oct. 28.

On Monday night the time limit expires by which the League of Nations member Governments are asked by the Sanctions Conference to state the date at which they are prepared to apply the economic sanctions. The British answer published on Monday names no date, which is equivalent to saying "immediately", since the British Government declares that it is ready to act by the date the Coordinating Committee stipulates. The French answer, the text of which is still unpublished by the League of Nations Secretariat, is said to require four clear days notice, meaning practically November 4 at the earliest.

New Zealand and Norway are the only two Governments to name a definite date, both specifying November 15, so that the expectation here is that in all probability, the sanctions will first be applied, on November 15. The League of Nations Secretariat announces that answers received to various proposals reveal that 38 states agree to an embargo on the export of arms, 20 to financial sanctions, 11 to import prohibition, and 11 to export prohibition, states accepting the latter two proposals being South Africa, Australia, Belgium, Great Britain, Ethiopia, France, Guatemala, Liberia, Luxembourg, New Zealand and Soviet Russia while six states declared themselves willing to offer mutual compensation to make good the losses arising among the states that apply the sanctions. Besides this Switzerland and Luxembourg also prohibited exports of war materials to Abyssinia.—Transocean Kuo Min.

MORE AGREEMENTS

Geneva, Oct. 28. Agreements continue to be received regarding the imposition of sanctions against Italy, the Indian Government being the latest to decide to apply financial and economic penalties.

Seven nations have now told the League that they are employing a complete boycott and embargo. France, Britain, and thirty-four others will employ at least an arms embargo, and fourteen will adopt financial sanctions. To-day the time limit for receipt of replies on the sanctions question expires and a number of favourable responses are expected.—Reuter.

SWISS DECISION

Berne, Oct. 28. The Federal Government has decided in favour of an embargo against the export of arms to both Italy and Ethiopia, as well as the application of financial sanctions against Italy.

With regard to economic sanctions, the Government is prohibiting the export of key products, in view of the inability of Italy to pay promptly for purchases of Swiss exports which have to be paid by Italy to a corresponding amount under the clearing house system.

It is understood that the League of Nations will accept the compromise as a fulfilment of Swiss obligations under the Covenant.—Reuter.

COMPENSATION BASIS

Geneva, Oct. 28. The export, re-export and transmission of arms, munitions and war material of all kinds to Italy and Abyssinia has been banned as the result of a decision arrived at by the Federal Council in accordance with Switzerland's adherence of the principle of strict neutrality.

The Council has also decided on the attitude towards the economic sanctions. Details have not yet been announced but in principle the export of certain rawstuffs to Italy is forbidden. As regards imports from Italy, Switzerland will propose business on a compensation basis which means that no kind of payment in currencies will be made to Italy, but that Italy may exchange goods with Switzerland.—Transocean Kuo Min.

NORWAY

Oslo, Oct. 28. The Norwegian Government notified the League of Nations on Monday that it will adhere to Sanctions 3 and 4, that is, not accepting imports from Italy, and forbidding the export of war material to Italy, the latter including horses, rubber, aluminium, scrap-iron, nickel and iron ores.—Transocean Kuo Min.

FRENCH DECREE

ITALIAN FEELING

Rome, Oct. 28. The conviction having become general here that diplomatic efforts to reach an agreement whereby the East African conflict would be terminated amicably have definitely failed, the slogan that is in every mouth is "on, through thick and thin."

No doubt any longer exists that Italy will be virtually in a state of economic siege within a very few days, involving the rationing of all chief foodstuffs and industrial raw stuffs including fuel for motors and railways as well as for household use, so that many of the accustomed comforts will disappear for a long time to come.

Crown Prince Umberto of Italy who, according to rumours current recently, desires a peaceful settlement of the present conflict.

ITALIANS MAKE HEADWAY

Makale Expected To Fall Shortly

Rome, Oct. 28.

An official communique published to-day states that the Italian troops have made considerable advance in the northern sector, meeting with little resistance from the Abyssinians who have retired slowly before them.

The communique states that the fall of Makale is expected very shortly. Later to-day it was rumoured that Makale had already been captured by the Black Shirt militia, but this was not confirmed officially.—Reuter.

AIR RAID AT MAGALO

Rome, Oct. 29. Air raid activity has been resumed on the southern front according to messages received here.

All the planes returned safely to the Italian lines.—Reuter.

"The Italian people know what they are facing," writes the "Lavoro Fascista," "know what attempts will be made to break its morale and can see clearly what is behind the sanctions of the League of Nations. But knowing this clearly, the unalterable decision is to stand steadfast 'through thick and thin.' We are a frugal people accustomed to need and privation and will not shrink from sacrifice."

"In the 'Tribuna,' Senator Davanzani puts the whole blame for Italy's position on to Great Britain which, he alleges, has become the autocratic dictator to the League of Nations though he also reproaches the other states for their servility in consenting to apply sanctions.—Transocean Kuo Min.

LEADERS DEPART

London, Oct. 28. Sir Samuel Hoare, the Foreign Secretary, is proceeding to Geneva on October 31 and will probably remain there until November 3.

No importance is attached to the decision taken, and the reason for Sir Samuel's visit is not significant, nor does it indicate any change in British policy.

Mr. Anthony Eden, the Minister for League Affairs, is also leaving for Geneva on October 31, and will remain there for the duration of the League's meetings.—Reuter.

THIRTEEN YEARS OF FASCIST RULE

Italy Faces The Future With Determination

Rome, Oct. 28.

The exultant spirit in which all Rome celebrated "New Year's Day," that is the 13th anniversary of the Fascist march on Rome and the beginning of a new year in the history of the Fascist regime, was tempered by the solemn thought of the immense hardships with which the nation is faced.

On the one hand fireworks displays and enthusiastic demonstrations contributed to the spectacular part of the programme which included the dedication of no less than 352 new buildings in all parts of Italy which had been completed in the course of the past Fascist year, and which necessitated the expenditure of 728 million lire.

On the other hand, in view of the expected application of financial and economic sanctions, there was no lack of appeals to the people for courage and patience as well as "duty and self-sacrifice" which the new year would entail. For instance the "Voce Italia" writes that the circle around Italy, closing in sanctions, is drawing near while the other papers emphasise in startling headlines that the country is faced with an "unprecedented conspiracy of international forces against the rise to power," but declare with determination that even in the face of this Italy would not flinch.

SURE OF SUCCESS

The entire nation have risen as one, writes the "Messaggero" which goes on to say that they are ready to make any sacrifice to make Italy great. The "Piccolo" adds that Italy is certain of success and the population at home will make sacrifices as great as the demands of the soldiers who are serving in the front lines.

Early in the day the Fascist Party flag was taken from the Party Headquarters to the Palazzo Venezia where Mussolini lives and shortly after 11 Duce appeared before a cheering crowd, to whom he said, "We begin the new year with the same courage as we ended the old year." He made another appearance at midday and addressed the people, in the same terms, and during his short speech 400 aeroplanes flew past, giving an indication of Italy's preparedness to face all emergencies.

All foreign diplomatic headquarters were beflagged in honour of the occasion.—Transocean Kuo Min.

Rome, Oct. 28.

To-day, on the thirteenth anniversary of the Fascist "coup d'etat," the ancient capital of the Roman Empire presents a holiday appearance. All shops are closed, but every building and house is profusely decorated.

To-day was made the occasion for the opening of numerous public works projects, all over Italy, including a beautiful new railway station in Florence, and the electrification of several railroads which were formerly operated with steam systems.

Signor Benito Mussolini, Fascist chief and Dictator of Italy, in a fiery public address commemorating the anniversary, said:—"The last thirteen years have not been in vain."

"The people of Italy are welded together in a common cause and are presenting a united front to their enemies and to those who seek occasions to her detriment," he declared.

Referring particularly to the question of the forthcoming economic sanctions, Duce said that Italians must face with dignity and patience the inconvenience entailed.—Reuter.

His "Holiness the Pope" to-day broadcast an appeal for peace. The judges of the Statutory Court in Memel territory, all Lithuanians, have just been appointed for the coming seven years by the Lithuanian state president. The chairman of the bench will be the president of the Lithuanian Higher Tribunal, M. Budas Cipauskas. Thus the expectation that after the triumph for the Germans at the recent election a number of German Memellanders would also be appointed as judges proved doomed to disappointment.

The proposal that the entire bench should be Lithuanian is said to emanate from the justice minister, Schillings.—Transocean Kuo Min.

On the occasion of the Czechoslovakian national fête day, a monument in honour of President Masaryk was erected at the frontier town of Brum by the Czechs and Germans when Dr. Benes, speaking on foreign policy, declared that the existence of Czechoslovakia itself depended on the policy of European peace, a durable European equilibrium, a lasting peace. Thus, continued the foreign minister, it is possible to conceive the love of the country on a higher plane to which even the minorities could subscribe, the above all Germans in Czechoslovakia, whose mission in Europe was identical with that of the Czechoslovaks.—Transocean Kuo Min.

PROPOSALS OF LABOUR

Attack By Sir John Simon

London, Oct. 29.

Sir John Simon, Home Secretary, speaking last night, assailed the Labour Party's proposals to take over the banks and businesses, such proposals, he said, struck at the foundation of the whole economic structure and threatened to undermine it as it was undermined four years ago.

Another first class financial crisis such as occurred in 1931 would, he added, bring in its wake a trail of ruin. The same cause would be bound to produce the same results.

He recalled the services of Lord Snowden in 1931 when he helped to reverse the spendthrift policy for which he had previously been partly responsible, and added that under the present Chancellor of the Exchequer, Mr. Neville Chamberlain, the national finances had been completely re-established, all cuts had been restored, taxation had been reduced, and British credit was now the best in the world.—British Wireless.

CABINET FALL IN SPAIN

Sequel To Casino Scandal

Madrid, Oct. 29.

The Government has resigned following the revelation of the casino scandal in which it is alleged that a Dutch roulette king named Strauss distributed bribes to high officials in return for a legal grant of concessions to run gaming tables.

The committee of investigation implicated eight prominent men including Aurelio Lerroux, adopted son of the Foreign Minister, and Flechury, Governor of Catalonia. After a lively debate last night the Cortes voted declaring that the charge of corruption has been proved and the Government ordered the resignation of all office-holders concerned.—Reuter.

EARLY CABLE

Madrid, Oct. 29.

The debate in the Cortes on the bribery scandal in connection with the granting of gaming concessions to the casino at San Sebastian in which several members of the radical party are involved, passed on Monday without the expected resignation of the radical ministers of the entire cabinet. The danger of a cabinet crisis, however, still persists and may become acute on Tuesday.

After the agitated session the Cortes voted on the motion demanding "moral condemnation" of the two radical deputies involved in the scandal. One of these, Senhor Blasco Ibanez, was condemned by 190 votes to 70 while the other accused, Senhor Salazar Alonso who had already been re-elected of his post as mayor was found not guilty by 140 votes to 137.

While it is hoped in some quarters that the crisis may be restricted to the resignation of two radical members of the present

WIDER SUPPORT FOR LEAGUE

Mr. Anthony Eden's Speech

London, Oct. 29.

Mr. Anthony Eden, Minister for League of Nations Affairs, in a speech last night said there was in Britain at present a stronger and wider measure of general support for the League than there has ever been. This was due to the growing belief that through the League alone could they hope to create in the world that new order as a result of which no nation would ever contemplate the use of war as an instrument of national policy.

He repudiated the suggestion that the government had been dilatory in its part in League action in the present crisis. The League had worked in the last few weeks as a truly corporate body with a vigorous sense of international responsibility.

When they considered how unpalatable was its task it was surely a remarkable tribute to the League's virility. He added that it must, however, be remembered that the first task of the League was conciliation and it clearly would have been criminal to neglect so long as it existed any opportunity for conciliation.—British Wireless.

U.S. SILVER POLICY

Rumoured Deals In France

London, Oct. 29.

Rumours are circulating in London and Paris that Mr. Henry Morgenthau, the U.S. Treasury Secretary, has promised to help the Bank of France by preventing sharp depreciation of sterling. It is pointed out that such an undertaking is obviously in line with the American silver policy, in pursuit of which America is believed to have bought forty million ounces in London since Mr. Morgenthau saw the Bank of France. It is also rumoured that Mr. Morgenthau assured the Bank of France that there will be no further dollar devaluation.

If the rumours are true it means that foreign exchanges are virtually stabilised with America preventing sterling depreciating while British control will prevent any appreciation.

There have not been any violent movements to test the reliability of these rumours, but many expect to see an attack on the franc once the French internal conditions, which are at present overshadowed by foreign developments, again come to the forefront.—Reuter.

THE TENNIS EXHIBITION

Cochet, Aragon & Canavarro At The K. C. C.

Bright and entertaining play featured the second day's professional tennis exhibition yesterday when once again Cochet, Aragon and Canavarro were in the limelight.

The Officer Administering the Government, His Excellency Mr. N. L. Smith, Major General W. F. Thackeray and Col. Harrison, G.S.O. (1) were present and Cochet was introduced to the Officer Administering the Government.

F. Aragon of the Philippines met R. Canavarro of Shanghai in a singles match and won by 6-3, 6-4. Spectators were treated to a barrage of hot exchanges between these two players when in the first set, Canavarro after winning the first game, allowed Aragon to take the next five games in a row and came back again to win the seventh and eighth games. At this period Canavarro was playing well but it was the other's cool, persistent and deadly placing that won the game. Aragon took the last game to win by 6-3.

The second set was more evenly fought. Canavarro forced the game at the earlier stages and took the first two games. By dint of forcing Aragon to move about the court Canavarro had the Filipino driving out of the court or into the net in the first two games. Aragon, however, steadied up and won the next two to draw level.

BRIGHT EXCHANGES

Clever placing and driving effectively into the far back of the court by Aragon extended Canavarro to the limit but the Shanghai man came back with some deadly cross court drives or some hard drives down the side lines to win the fifth game. Aragon, however, drew level and took the next game to lead for the first time. Bright exchanges then followed when Aragon was seen at his best passing Canavarro with flashing drives or clever back hand shots to beat his opponent the whole way.

Canavarro retaliated strongly in the eighth game when he played Aragon stroke for stroke and after many deuces had been called he annexed the game to draw level at 4 all.

The pace set up earlier in the game was somewhat too much for the Shanghai veteran and he fell away to allow the younger player to obtain the next two games and set.

LOCAL PLAYERS IN ACTION

Cochet showed that he is still as good as ever when he indulged in a knock-up with S. A. Rumlajn. He showed some uncanny placing and superb judgment. He played with his customary coolness and delighted the spectators with his all round court craft.

The Rumlajn cousins also figured in another knock-up against Cochet and Aragon in a doubles affair. The fare served was excellent and the spectators were treated to some fast and exciting exchanges.

The Exhibition will be brought to a close to-day and it would be well for those who have not seen the visitors to make it a point of doing so as some excellent tennis is promised when Cochet plays Aragon to-day.

CRAIGENGOWER MEETING

Restriction Placed On Children

That children be excluded from the club after five o'clock on week days, and after one o'clock on Saturdays, was one of the resolutions passed by members of the Craigengower C.C. at the annual general meeting held at the club house yesterday evening, which was presided over by Mr. B. W. Bradbury, their president.

Supporting the chairman, were Messrs. C. S. Rosset, E. el Arculli, R. Basa, H. Beer, H. L. Fox, A. B. Hamson, W. J. Howard, J. S. Landolt, W. K. Way, A. E. Coates (Hon. Treasurer) and U. M. Omar (Hon. Secretary).

After dealing at length with the financial side and sporting activities Mr. Bradbury said: "I regret to find it necessary to touch upon a subject which has been the cause of considerable controversy in the past, and that is the question of the closing hour. There has lately been reports coming through to the effect that certain members have persisted in remaining in the Club after the official closing hour, and they even go to the extent of removing drinks from the Bar in defiance of the boys' refusal to serve them. I accordingly wish to appeal to members generally to co-operate in the enforcement of this necessary regulation, and now that attention is being drawn to the irregularity, it is hoped that incidents of this description will not be repeated."

COMMITTEE THANKED

"In conclusion, gentlemen, I very much appreciate the privilege of again presiding at this annual meeting, and I wish to place on record my personal thanks to the outgoing Committee for their whole-hearted co-operation during the past year. Our meetings have been a source of pleasure, due to the spirit of harmony and good fellowship prevailing throughout the whole year. I particularly desire to draw your attention to the excellent services rendered by Mr. Omar, our Hon. Secretary, and Mr. Coates, our Hon. Treasurer. These two gentlemen have put in some real hard work and by their tact and manner, they have endeared themselves to all."

The report and accounts for the past year were passed unanimously.

OFFICERS ELECTED

The following were elected officers for the ensuing year: President: B. W. Bradbury. Vice-President: D. K. Kharas. Hon. Secretary: U. M. Omar. Hon. Treasurer: A. E. Coates. Committee Members: Messrs. R. Basa, W. K. Way, J. S. Landolt, J. Cavanagh, H. Beer, C. S. Rosset, Dr. V. N. Atienza, and A. Kitchell. Cricket Captain (1st XI): A. T. Lee; Vice-Captain: J. L. Youngs; Captain (2nd XI): A. Kitchell; Vice-Captain: W. K. Way. Tennis Convenor: W. J. Howard; Bowls Convenor: E. el Arculli. These two in addition to the Cricket Captain (1st Eleven) were made ex-officio members of the committee.

CHILDREN BARRED

The meeting was then opened for discussion, and Mr. Elliott proposed that children be barred from the club after 5 p.m. on week days and after 1 p.m. on Saturdays, with the committee to act as to their discretion on Sundays. The proposer said that he thought this scheme afforded children ample use of the club without getting in anyone's way.

This proposal was seconded by Mr. A. B. Hamson, and was finally passed but not after a great deal of discussion had taken place.

Mr. Basa's amendment that only on Saturdays should children be barred the use of the club was defeated when put to the vote. A further amendment that an age limit of 14 years be attached to the original proposal also was not accepted.

The meeting closed with a vote of thanks to the outgoing committee.

TALKING SPOILS A GOLF SHOT

(Special Air Mail Service)

London, Oct. 19. Miss Wanda Morgan, the British champion, who was beaten to-day in the English Women's Golf Championship at Birkdale, may be said to have lost, because of the non-observance of the customary etiquette by spectators.

She was on the point of hitting a brassie shot on the green when two women standing near began to talk loudly. She only hit the ball a few yards. She lost by a hole to Miss Sylvia Bailey.

Though I am convinced that the incident had an important bearing on the result of the match, Miss Morgan, like the good sportswoman she is, declared that it had no effect on the shot whatever. "I never heard the women talking," she said. "I hurried the shot and missed it."

Miss Bailey was later beaten by Miss Elsie Corlett, who will meet Mrs. Marjorie Garon in the final to-day.

LONDON EXHIBITION

This year's Shipping, Engineering and Machinery Exhibition in London was remarkable for the wide response from Overseas visitors. People came from all over the world, representing government dockyards and railways, public works departments and harbours, as well as private firms.

The Exhibition, as a whole, reflected the better conditions ruling in trade and industry, and while the engines were the most representative section, all classes of shipyard, engineering workshop and drawing office equipment were to be seen.

A very interesting machine for measuring the "oiliness" of a lubricant was shown by Gerni Lubricants, well-known in connection with the Wels-Southcombe process for increasing this vital property. It was designed by the Timken Roller Bearing Co., and briefly, by varying the pressure of a lubricated metal surface against a rapidly rotating ring, the load, frequently of the order of 15,000 lbs. per sq. in., or over, at which the lubricant fails to keep the surfaces apart, can be measured.

Results show that ordinary mineral oils, such as motor oils, are only capable of carrying a load of about 5,000 lbs. per sq. in., while "Germ" oils go as high as 8,000, or over. In discussing this matter in a recent article, Mr. J. E. Southcombe pointed out the curious fact that certain special compounds, which for other reasons cannot be employed as general lubricants, will resist breakdown of the film at such high pressures as 25,000-30,000 lbs. per sq. in.—pressures which approach the "crushing" value of the hard steel itself.

LOST TENNIS POINT THAT COST £320

(Special Air Mail Service)

London, Oct. 19. One lost point in lawn tennis has cost Lester Stoeft, the American professional, £320.

He held match point in his semi-final of the professional indoor championships at Wembley last night against Ellsworth Vines. The score then was 6-7 (Vines serving) in the fifth set. The server sent over a fine delivery which brought a weak reply, and a smash saved the match for Vines, who presently took a 9-7 set and the match. I was indeed a "close call" for him, for Stoeft had led 3-0 and 4-1 in the final set and a very narrow decision in Vines's favour helped him to save the game, which made the difference between 5-2 and 4-3 in Stoeft's favour.

The sum mentioned, Stoeft told me, is made up partly of lost prize-money and partly of "other considerations in the States, together with one or two small bets."

FRENCH "HOPE" WATCHES

Watching the match was Bernard Desreman, the junior champion of France, who told me that he is having three weeks holiday in London to improve his tennis and his English. This young French "hope" will play in the covered courts championships. This afternoon he is appearing at King's Club, Richmond, in charity exhibition games in which H. W. Austin, P. D. B. Spence, H. G. N. Cooper, L. de Borman (Belgium), Miss Betty Nuthall and Miss Mary Hardwick will take part.

Miss Nuthall is recovering from the trouble some neck strain which kept her out of tennis last season. She is practising again and hopes to reappear in tournament play next year.

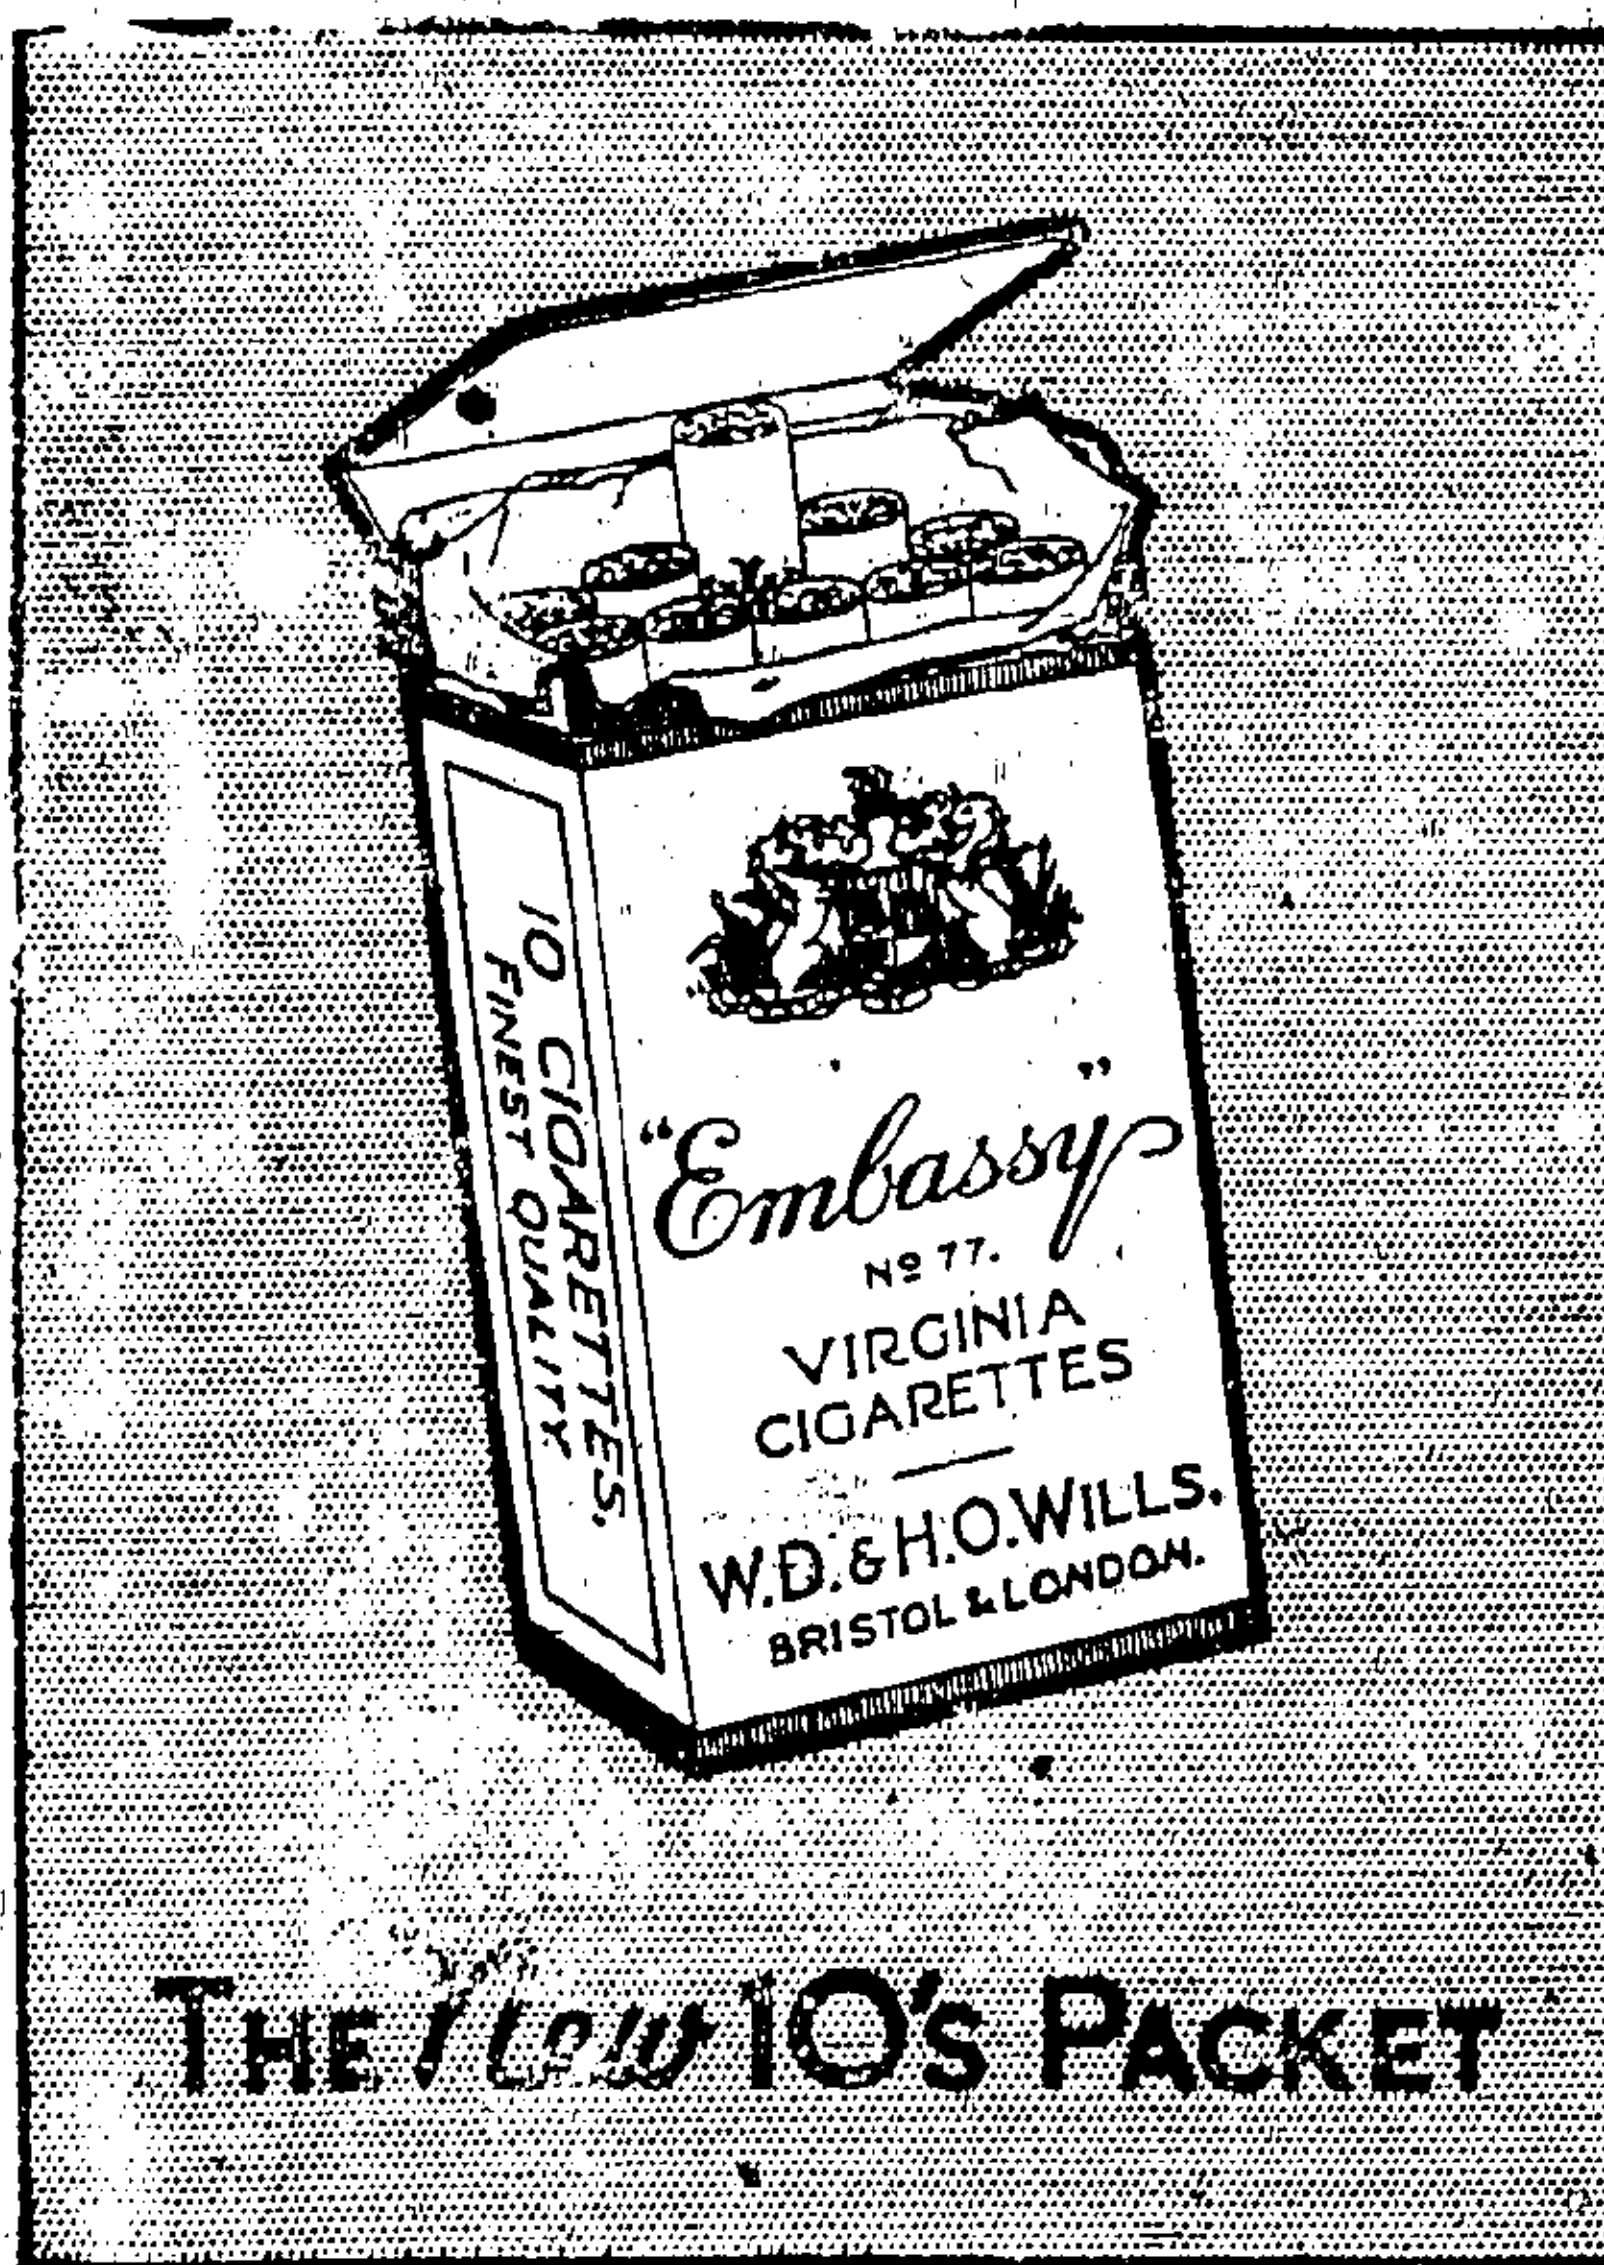

In the finals at Wembley to-night H. E. Vines plays W. T. Tilden; and in the doubles Tilden and Vines meet G. Lott and L. Stoeft.

NANKING AND FLOOD RELIEF

Press" (Copyright))

Nanking, Oct. 22.
Arrangements have been completed for the staging of a series of soccer exhibition matches on Oct. 24 in the capital for the purpose of raising funds for flood relief. The Hongkong, Malaya, Kwangtung and Shanghai teams, the four best squads of the National Athletic Meet enumerated in order of merit, have accepted the invitation to take part in the exhibition matches which will be played at the Central Stadium. The games sponsored by Mr. Yeh Chu-Tsang, Secretary-General of the Central Kuo-Min Tang Headquarters, and Dr. Lo Chia-Lun, president of the Central University.

Meanwhile, the Nanking Women's Flood Relief Association is planning a series of entertainments on October 26 and 27 at the Ginling College for the same purpose of flood relief. The main features of the programme will include concert singing, art exhibition, sale of chrysanthemums and serving of refreshments.

More than 400 paintings and scrolls will be contributed for the art exhibition, and these for the art exhibition, and these will include the works of Mr. Wang Ching-Wei, President of the Executive Yuan, Mr. Yu Yu-Jen, Presidents of the Control Yuan, Madame Shao Yuan-Chung, member of the Legislative Yuan, and other Chinese calligraphists and painters of note.

The concert, which will include vocal singing and instrumental music, will be given by the faculty and students of the Music Departments of the Ginling College and the National Central University.

Admission tickets will be sold at $2 and $1 each, proceeds of which go to the flood relief fund. (China United Press (by mail)).

MONGOLIAN POLITICAL COUNCIL MEETS

Pallingmao, Oct. 21.
With several problems of paramount importance on the agenda, the third plenary session of the Mongolian Political Council plunged into formal discussions today. The general meeting was scheduled to have been held on Oct. 9 but at the inauguration meeting then, a quorum was found wanting, necessitating a postponement of eleven days and since then a sufficient number of Council members have arrived to make a quorum.

The session, it is learned, will last for one week, and one of the most important questions to be discussed is that of devising ways of co-ordinating the various Leagues and Banners in defence measures against possible invasion of Communist remnants from north Shensi.

It is believed that the dispute between Prince Yun and Prince Dorjic, president of the Council and "chieftain" of the West Banner, respectively, will also be brought up for discussion. (China United Press (by mail)).

ROYAL NAVY

Gunnery School Command

(Special Air Mail Service)

London, Oct. 10.
Captain A. F. Pridham is due to relinquish to-day the command of H.M.S. Excellent, gunnery school, at Whale Island, Portsmouth, which he has held since July, 1933. He will be succeeded by Captain A. J. Power, from the directing staff of the Imperial Defence College, and formerly in command of the cruiser Dorsetshire.

"Captain Pridham will probably take up a sea command in the near future. He last served afloat in command of the cruiser Curlew in the Mediterranean, in which he was relieved in August, 1930, on his appointment as Assistant Director of Naval Ordnance. Capt. Pridham was a member of the first course at the Imperial Defence College when it was opened in 1927.

MINESWEEPER COMMAND.
The minesweeper Selkirk, Lieut.-Comdr. W. A. Ford, which completed to full complement on August 31 at Devonport, has been constituted an independent command from that date. In company with the Tiverton, another ship of the First Minesweeping Flotilla, the Selkirk arrived at Gibraltar on September 20.

SEAMEN FROM NEW ZEALAND

It is announced in a fleet order that ratings of the New Zealand Division serving in the R.N. on an exchange basis are in future to be referred to in official documents and correspondence as "interchange" ratings. This also applies to R.N. ratings lent to the New Zealand Division on this basis. New Zealand interchange ratings serving in the R.N. are assessable to United Kingdom income-tax on the R.N. equivalent of their naval taxable emoluments, the balance of their pay (which is defrayed from New Zealand funds) being regarded as exempt. Pay in the New Zealand Naval Forces is higher in all grades than in the R.N. An ordinary seaman gets 4s. 6d. a day instead of 2s. an A.B. on promotion 5s. 4d. instead of 3s., a leading seaman 7s. 3d. instead of 4s. 4d., and a petty officer 8s. 2d. instead of 6s. A chief petty officer starts at 9s. 6d. a day, compared with 7s. 6d. a day in the R.N. Most of the allowances are the same as in the Royal Navy, and the issue of marriage allowance is not subject to any age qualification.

ensure silence in operation. For instance, the large refrigerating compressors have been mounted on a reinforced concrete block and the whole block weighing some 80 tons in all is itself supported on springs to prevent the transmission of vibration to the building. In this connection it may be of interest to note that there are altogether some sixty three electric motors installed in connection with the Air Conditioning and Heating Plant.

A complete set of indicating and recording instruments has also been provided to enable the engineer in charge to supervise the running of the plant throughout the year, so as to obtain the greatest efficiency of working and to check the adjustment of the plant, so that the required conditions are in fact maintained. Experience has shown that the first cost of such instruments is quickly covered by the saving in running costs resulting.

I hope that the description I have just given will have given you some idea of what air conditioning means and how we have carried out the installation at the Bank.

THE FUTURE

Before concluding my remarks, I should however, like to say something about what I believe the future of air conditioning to be. Progress in building technique is rapid. I myself feel, and this view is endorsed by infinitely more weighty opinions than my own, that in the next few years all modern office buildings in this Colony will be air conditioned as well as a number of private houses. Buildings put up in the next five or six years which have no provision for air conditioning, will, I am sure, be very quickly obsolete. Even if the expense of the actual machinery cannot be contemplated at the moment, it is a relatively simple and inexpensive business to make provision in the design of the building so that the plant can be installed at a later date.

Actually this matter of expense is not as dreadful as it seems. Small air conditioning units costing comparatively little and capable of dealing with single rooms are already on the market and should fill a large demand for isolated rooms such as bedrooms. The use of such a unit to ensure a good night's sleep in the summer cannot fail to appeal to anyone. Still more attractive is the idea of a whole house on the Peak where the damp is excluded and the need for hot rooms entirely gone. For larger office buildings, the advantages are equally great. I have no doubt that when Electric Lighting, and later lifts first came into use, their cost was considered prohibitive, but nowadays no office building would be considered complete without them. The same argument of expense was also levelled against the telephone when it first appeared. My advice to any of you therefore, who may be considering the construction of new buildings in the future is—Do not omit to Air condition them on the score either of expense or of novelty, for if you do, you will find yourself landed with a building which is out of date almost as soon as it is finished.

THANKS RETURNED

Mr. F. Joseph in proposing a vote of thanks to the speaker said that he agreed with the speaker that air conditioning will prove a boom in the future. He hoped that in the time to come the hope that every home and dwelling in Hong Kong would be equipped with an air conditioning plant would be fulfilled. He thanked the speaker on behalf of the gathering for a very delightful and enlightening talk.

PRINCE TO OPEN NORTHWEST BLOC MOTOR SHOW

More Comfort In New Cars

(Special Air Mail Service)

London, Oct. 10.
The Prince of Wales will open the annual Motor Show at Olympia on Thursday morning, Oct. 17. This will be the first time he has seen an Olympia show.

He has, however, always taken a great interest in motor-cars and likes to drive his own whenever possible. The other day he visited the British stands at the Paris show.

Blue Bird, that splendid example of British motor engineering in which Sir Malcolm Campbell created the world's land speed record of 301 m.p.h. in Utah, will be one of the exhibits at the show.

The exhibition promises to be one of exceptional interest. Seldom have there been so many new and important models introduced at show time. The new 12-cylinder Rolls-Royce alone would make it notable. There are many other new cars from which the future development of the English motor vehicle may be gauged.

MANY FOREIGN CARS

More engine power, more body space, and increased comfort promise to be the chief notes of the show, and there are still more "show models" to be announced, with possibilities of further surprises and innovations.

The average horse-power of the cars to be displayed is 19; last year it was 15.

Olympia continues to expand as a centre of the international motor market, and in spite of political disturbances foreign buyers and dealers are expected in increased numbers. At the Paris show now in progress there are fewer exhibitors than last year.

Next week at Olympia there will again be 34 manufacturers represented, of whom 29 are British and 25 foreign. America, Canada, France, Germany, and Italy are sending their finest cars.

Marshal Chang's Venture

Tientsin, Oct. 27.

Plans to organize a "Northwest bloc," embracing Shansi, Honan, Shensi, Kansu, Suiyuan and Ning-shi provinces, are being pushed forward under the leadership of Marshal Chang Hsueh-liang, deputy commander-in-chief of the Government's anti-bandit expeditionary forces in the Northwest area, according to information circulated in Chinese quarters here to-day.

It is pointed out that the Young Marshal has recently been engaged in secret moves to counterbalance his lost influence in North China by ploughing his way through Shensi into the Northwest.

Much significance is attached in this connection to the recent concentration in Shensi by the Young Marshal of large military forces, estimated at 150,000 men, under General Wang I-cheh and General Ho Chu-ko, commanders of the 67th and 57th Armies, respectively, ostensibly to engage the "Red" forces reentering from Szechuan. Informed quarters here understand that Marshal Chang's venture in connection with this important mobilization of the former Northeastern Army is calculated to push his long-cherished hopes to the fore.

The same circles further point out that the anti-Communist drive has furnished the son of the late "Uncrowned King of Manchuria" with a most convenient cover under which to exploit his sphere of influence. (Union News).

GENERAL WANG'S NEW POST

Nanking, Oct. 22.

General Wang Shu-chang assumed new post as Vice-Chairman of Military Advisory Council this morning, pending the oath-taking ceremony sometime later. (Central News Agency).

For irritable Children

In the "Strand Magazine" of March 1933, the well-known food expert, Miss Kathleen Dane, writes:

"Many children of the irritable, nervous type, owe their state to a deficiency of organic salts, particularly calcium, notwithstanding the fact that the dietary appears to be properly balanced. Such youngsters do well when the diet is reinforced by a well-retained mineral food, such as 'Kalzana,' which medical men all over the country are now recommending."

Your quickly-growing child needs extra calcium to help the formation of straight bones, healthy teeth, and a strong constitution. Start your boy or girl on a course of Kalzana—you will be surprised at the all-around improvement Kalzana effects. Irritability disappears, appetite returns and soon the formerly "difficult" child will be a happy, healthy youngster again.

ROYAL INDUSTRIES FAIR

The 33rd Royal Netherlands Industries Fair was held in Utrecht from September 3 to 13 last. Owing to the increasing dislocation of international commercial intercourse times have become rather serious for industry as well as for trade in Holland. On the other hand industry and trade still show a most remarkable activity, adapting themselves rapidly to always changing conditions and displaying an undiminished energy in searching for new outlets.

From a business point of view results were favourable; participants numbered 1079, which is only 50 less than the number of the autumn fair 1934; the space taken up amounted to 12,800 sq. ms. (as against 13,200 sq. ms. last autumn).

Four countries—France, Italy, Germany and Austria—participated officially and the official stands aroused admiration, both in respect to quantity and quality of the goods.

The undermentioned countries took part with the following number of participants, divided over each of them:

Holland	687

Shanghai, Oct. 28.

Sir Frederick Leith-Ross, chief economic adviser to the British Government and head of the British economic mission to China, has given up his programme for financial and economic aid to China, reportedly including re-organization of China's currency system and the grant of credit, as a result of his study for the past three weeks of economic conditions in the country. Japanese quarters stated here to-day.

Though Sir Frederick is still continuing study of China's economic and financial conditions, holding conversations with Chinese financial leaders, observers are of the opinion that the British envoy is still unable to formulate any concrete plans in connection with his mission.

It is reported that Sir Frederick has recently been instructed by London to refrain from advancing any positive programme for economic and financial aid to the Chinese Government.

ITALY'S GOLD RESERVES DECLINE

(Special Air Mail Service)

London, Oct. 10.
During the 10 days to Sept. 20 the Bank of Italy's gold reserves declined by a further £3,815,000. This is disclosed by the official return issued last night.

This continued decline reflects Italy's war preparations. The bullion reserves of the bank are used to purchase exchange in Paris to meet payments for materials for the manufacture of munitions.

In three months Italy has lost £18,800,000 gold. The amount of gold held by the bank is shown in the following table:

June 30, 1935	91,000,000
July 31	87,000,000
Aug. 31	78,000,000
Sept. 20	72,000,000

If Italy is prepared to dissipate her reserves the drain can continue for some time. But that means that her currency will be merely paper, the value of which will be negligible in the money markets of the world.
